Applications now being accepted for SEPTEMBER SEMESTER Day or Evening . Co-educational

Now is the time to carve a place for yourself in one of the rapidly expanding fields of our scientific age. A bright and profitable future awaits the trained technologist.

No secret corner of the world, however tiny, is hidden from the curious cameras of our far-flung correspondents, such as, for example, Tavisak Viryasiri, a wealthy Bangkok businessman whose sideline is working as a CBS News cameraman. The moment the Thai government cracked down on narcotics Tavisak and his camera infiltrated a group of local opium dens and took some fascinating pictures. Perhaps you saw them on a recent Saturday news program-the customers walking into a bunk-filled room, blue with smoke, buying their opium pellets, preparing their pipes, and sliding into their separate cubicles to sleep, perchance to dream. After getting his films Tavisak then went to the Klong Rangsit Sanitarium and showed you Thai doctors attending long-tefm addicts and their methods of rehabilitation, similar in so many ways to our own. Altogether' it was pretty impressive and informative journalism, in the best Pulitzer Prize-winning tradition, thanks to Tavisak, CBS News and, in the last analysis, television.

Every year the Freedoms Founda-tion at Valley Forge presents awards to television broadcasters for programs which "create or support" a better understanding of the nation's fundamental traditions. Last week it gave its George Washington Honor Medal to the CBS Television Network for a full-hour program called "Government and the Democratic Process" -one of a series of seven programs entitled The Great Challenge.

Perhaps you remember seeing it. A group of distinguished historians and journalists including, among others, Prof. Allan Nevins of Columbia University, Prof. Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. of Harvard University, Arthur Krock of The New York Times and Emmet Hughes of Life Magazine sharply examined the quality of American lead. ership and the capacity of democratic institutions to act swiftly in moments of crisis. The Freedoms Foundation called it an "outstanding achievement."
