Let's get up with the sun at 8 this morning—cut in on the Los Angeles Breakfast Club frolic, then skidding through the morning, romp into the evening with plays, the Boswell Sisters and a multitude of varieties we'll set out in the high lights.

Speaking of the Breakfast Club. KFVB at 8, its publicity reads as follows: "Both in speaker and entertainment Wednesday morning will stand out as unusual. No program quite like it previously. Capt. Leo McLaglen, world champion of jujutsu, will speak about and will demonstrate this age-old science. Then, too, a splendid entertainment by the Etude Ethiopian Chorus, thirty trained colored singers, the best in the Southland." They will repeat some of the numbers they did with Lawrence Tibbett in "The Prodigal."

With the depression stepping on many toes the Boswell Sisters, KHJ at 8:45 tonight, open their program with "Wrap Your Troubles in Dreams," then "What is It?" and "My Sweet Tooth Says I Wanna."

And for a play, why not another episode of Kay Van Riper's "Morals in Mayfair," KFVB at 9:30 p.m. Tonight's chapter is titled "Heritage"—a bit of mystery and a fight.

Then let's trot over to the high lights.
