

FOOTBALL WILL GET ATTENTION

Army-Yale Game to Be Chief Broadcast Today

Dog Carnival Will Attest Power of Radio

Mayor and Trick Animals to Be at Field

The Times Forum canceled to permit football games.

World-wide news, 7 a.m.; air-cr Yale-Army game; 5:20 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Football, a dog carnival, an English mystery writer, the Merry-makers, and enough to give any radio fan two headaches are on the dial today.

Tossing away their bayonets and donning pigskins, the Army grid-ders will take on the boys of Eli Yale at 10:45 a.m. Ted Husing will cover the game for the Columbia Broadcasting System, while Graham McNamee will do the honors for the National. So if you're football minded drop in with them at New Haven. KHJ and KECA.

Here's the schedule of the air on football today:

Army vs. Yale. KHJ. 10:45 a.m.
Army vs. Yale. KECA. 10:45 a.m.
Army vs. Yale. KFAC. 11 a.m.
U.S.C. vs. California. KHJ. 1:30 p.m.
Washington vs. Stanford. KFI. 2 p.m.

We'll toss all the other features in the High Lights column except the pooch, purp, mutt and dog carnival — the result of a recent series of dog programs given over KHJ. At Loyola Field at 1:45 p.m. children and bow wows are going to assemble in a grand dog carnival dedicated to "The Child and His Dog." There are no strings attached to anything but the mutts —and it's a help to the city's cats for they'll have a day off. Mayor Porter, "Dynamite," a trick mule; monkeys, and other prominent features will be on hand to attest the power of radio in inducing children to come along with their pet purp and win a prize. Even the streets cars will permit the perambulating of the family pets. Radio is a doggi-gone wonderful thing.

And there is a lot of real talent in today's Radio High Lights, too. Just look them over.

No! The dog carnival will not be broadcast—but it's free.
