BY JOHN S. DAGGETT
 It's a far cry from the vicinity of Griffith Park to Rome, yet we're going to be swept from a frolic at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, over KFWB at 9 a.m. to San Palombo, Italy, in the Alban Hills (KHJ at 12:15 p.m.)—and there's distance for you.

Well, let's scan the Breakfast Club first: None other than Dr. A. H. Giannini will be the speaker of the morning—publicized as a "brief but interesting talk." Then Harold Roberts and his "liberty" band moves in—a thirty-piece band under the direction of the college march king in what is termed "brilliantly climaxing the morning." But that isn't half of all: Katherine Crawford, musical-comedy star, sings, Cliff Edwards, "Pkulele Ike" wrecks that ukulele, and Reginald Denny and Johnny Weismuller pass before the microphone. Tom Mix is the host.

Slipping over to San Palombo, Italy, via KHJ, at 12:15 we find an all-musical program speeding over the Atlantic. Three-quarters of an hour will be dedicated to the Armistice of the World War. No one knows just what is to be offered but you can depend upon it programs from the far countries are not accepted unless there is something worth while to broadcast. Our first thought was "Will Mussolini be there?" They said, "We don't know"—but you never can tell.

And when you've retreated to the living-room tonight there's plenty in the high lights to hold you. Seeing is believing, so look them over.
