The American School of the Air is returning to KHJ at 11:30 tomorrow morning.

The Columbia Broadcasting System announces that the largest network ever scheduled to take a series of programs will broadcast the opening of the American School of the Air. It will mark the third season for the only diversified and comprehensive group of radio programs prepared especially for use in the classroom to be presented on a nation-wide scale.

The program today will be a history dramatization based on the exploits of Amerigo Vespucci, the intrepid Italian navigator after whom the continents of the Western Hemisphere are named.

Following this there will be a broadcast at 11:30 a.m. over KHJ each morning, with the exception of Saturdays, Sundays and recognized holidays. On Mondays, there will be history dramatizations for the intermediate and upper grades. On Tuesdays, there will be music appreciation and geography programs for the intermediate and upper grades. On Wednesdays, literature dramatizations will alternate with art appreciation lectures given by Henry Turner Bailey, former director of the Cleveland Art Institute, these programs being designed for the intermediate and upper grades. On Thursdays, there will be music and story-telling for the primary grades alternating with elementary science for the intermediate grades. On Fridays, there will be vocational guidance talks and current events discussions for the upper grades.

NEWS PROGRAMS

Dr. Charles Frelsber, author, lecturer and news commentator, will conduct the news interpretation programs.

During the vocational guidance series, many outstanding men and women, among them Senator James J. Davis, Dr. Julius Klein, assistant Secretary of Commerce, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Alfred Fuller, president of the Fuller Brush Company, and Clara Taylor, investment counsellor, will give the children the advantage of their experience and authoritative advice.

Not only has the American School of the Air been officially accepted by the teaching profession, but also the general public has placed its stamp of approval on it.

Visual aid books to accompany the programs again will be available for the teachers and pupils requesting them, as well as an enlarged and more comprehensive "Teachers' Manual and Classroom Guide."

EIGHT MILLION IN CLASS

With more than 50,000 schools throughout the country equipped with radio and with an established audience among home listeners, the American School of the Air will have this year an estimated "student body" of fully 8,000,000 in every section of the United States and many parts of Canada.

So—out with your school books and into the Little Red Schoolhouse of the air—KHJ at 11:30 tomorrow morning.
