

Make Yourself a Job

WITH ED BISHOP
The Idea Hunter

A constant stream of reports from all over the country indicates that ingenuity in trading labor for commodities is paying dividends. Some unusual instances include a city dweller who made arrangements with a farmer to pick on shares all the potatoes the farmer's digging machine did not gather. In one day, the city man, working with his son, got ten bushels. In Plainfield, Wis., a man traded six days' work for a 3-year-old cow. Considered that the worker received room and board while working, the cow was estimated to have cost $6 in terms of money. Not long ago, the following classified advertisement appeared in a Chicago paper: "Five passenger sedan in exchange for outside painting. Call Midway—." There were 123 replies from painters.

Some simple new idea, properly broadcast, may put 1000 men back to work. If you know any idea, actually working, help spread the news by sending full details to Ed Bishop, care of this newspaper. (Los Angeles Times Syndicate.)
