

Make Yourself a Job

WITH ED BISHOP
The Idea Hunter

The simple idea sometimes succeeds where the more elaborate fails. A woman in Zealand, N. D., finding the market for her homemade quilts somewhat slack, decided upon designing and selling original quilt patterns. These she cut out of sandpaper, which does not slip when placed upon the small pieces of cloth that are usually employed in the making of quilts. These she found to be ready sellers to those women who made their own quilts but were unable to create their own patterns.

Some simple new idea, properly broad-cast, may put 1000 men back to work. If you know any idea, actually working, help spread the news by sending full details to Ed Bishop, care of this newspaper.
