

Make Yourself a Job

WITH ED BISHOP
The Idea Hunter

A simple and inexpensive service of uncommon nature has been turned into a regular business by a Los Angeles stove repairman. He advertises regularly in the personal and home service classified columns that he will replace weak and broken latches and springs on kitchen oven doors. What housewife does not know the annoyance and often physical injury caused by a continually falling oven door? Yet few will think of having it fixed unless someone comes along offering such a service.

Some simple new idea, properly broadcast, may put 1000 men back to work. If you know any idea, actually working, help spread the news by sending full details to Ed Bishop, care of this newspaper.
