

The Post Radio Time Table

7 p. m., WMAL—Sam Hayes continues his weekly football series, Touchdown Tips.

7, WJSV—Edward Arnold plays an original one-act radiolet by Jean Holloway, "The Lady and The Gardenia." His role is that of a great theatrical producer who is attracted by the personality of a street waif. Any characters or incidence, etc., is purely coincidental?

7:30, WMAL—It's a tenth anniversary party for Death Valley Days, something of a record for this still-teething industry. There's to be a special hour-length fete with guest artists and Niles Trammell, president of National Broadcasting Co. to lend luster to the occasion.

7:30, WOL—Alfred Wallenstein conducts his popular Sinfonietta: Symphony No. 34 in C major, Haydn and Eastern Romance, Hamilton Harty.

8:30, WOL—In 1937 Columnist Dorothy Kilgallen flew around the world. For Command Performance she has written of flying in "Flight Into Nowhere." Eleanor Kilgallen, her sister-actress, and Richard Kohlmer, her musical brother-in-law, play the other leads.

9, WJSV—Robert Gilmour Le Tourneau, wealthy Californian who credits the tremendous expansion of his business to his "taking God into partnership," is Ripley's guest for Believe It or Not.

9:15, WOL—James J. Jeffries does another punch-by-punch description of one of his great fistic encounters, this one with Gentleman Jim Corbett at Coney Island's Seaside Athletic Club.

10:30, WRC—Wooster—spelled Worcester—Mass., salutes the Antarctic Expedition in Little America under the auspices of the Worcester Telegram.
