Figures Reveal Baseball Boom

NEW YORK, N. Y .- (U.P) .- Baseball is booming again. After approximately three weeks of play the wo major leagues have drawn 1,-481.870 cash customers.

The close race in the American eague, where only five games separate the league-loading Philadelphia Athletics from the last-place Washington Senators, has made the turnstiles click off a merry tune. Sixty-eight games in that circuit have drawn 749,686 customers, an average of 11,023 persons per game. The National league, in which the Pittsburgh Pirates have been making an early runaway, has attracted an average of 9,267 persons per The largest single crowd for any game was 52,150 at Yankee stadium, Sunday, May 2, when the Red Sox played the Yankees. The smallest crowd was 893 at the Tigers-Browns game at St. Louis Friday.

Metropolitan New York's three clubs are the biggest box office teams. The Giants have outdrawn all teams in total attendance, with 212,761 for 16 games at the Polo grounds. Brooklyn followed with a total attendance of 145,905 for 15 games at Ebbets field. The New York Yankees have played only four games at Yankee stadium, but have attracted 134,381, an average of 33,-345 per game. The Detroit Tigers lead the American league in total attendance with 191,800 for 13
