Gentlemen of the Press—Mister Terry

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK, N. Y. (U.P.)—Bill Terry arrives today for his first tete-a-tete with the "gentlemen of the press" since his magazine article, "Terrible Terry," unloaded both barrels at the press box.

Terry is returning under cover and every effort to find out even what train he's riding on proved unsuccessful.

The best available information is that he left his Memphis home Thursday night at 9 p. m. and will be here some time this morning.

Every newspaper in Manhattan and Brooklyn—10 in all—and the three press associations have assigned their baseball writers to interview Terry. It will be a tough spot for tactless Terry who'll face a barrage of questions concerning just what he meant by those pot shots at the inmates of the press box.

Terry vs. Press

Terry's mission is to attend the International League meeting as a representative of the Giants' Jersey City farm club. He also will confer with Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, on several matters, one an invitation from Honolulu to train in Hawaii in 1939.

While a renewal of Terry's battle with the press impends, the Brooklyn Dodgers made a grand sian toward straightening their internal affairs by signing Van Lingle Mungo, their temperamental ace pitcher, to his 1938 contract at a salary reported to be $15,000 or $16,000.

The signing took place Friday night in Columbia, S. C. where Mungo went to meet Larry MacPhail, Dodgers' new and hustling vice-president. Although Mungo had flatly stated he'd never don another Brooklyn uniform as long as Burelligh Grimes managed the club, he signed in "less than 60 seconds," according to MacPhail and is bent on winning his "rightful place as baseball's greatest pitcher."

MacPhail said that Mungo would pitch for the Dodgers next season unless "we get an offer we can't afford to turn down."

Mungo has been in and out of hot water almost constantly the last two seasons. Last year he was fined about $5,000 and finally suspended for insubordination, and sent home in August. Earlier he engaged in an early morning fight with two teammates, Woody English and Jimmy Bucher, and was fined $1,000 and suspended for three days. In 1936 he "jumped" the team in Pittsburgh, hoping to force the Dodgers to trade him.

Signed contracts of outfielder Jake Powell and pitcher Steve Sundra were received Friday by the Yankees and the signed contract of pitcher by Hy Vandenberg arrived at the Giants' office. Eleven Giants and six Yankees have now signed.

According to CULBERTSON

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

(Copyright, 1938, by Ely Culbertson.)

Theoretically, the function of bidding is to achieve a final contract representing the greatest trick-taking possibilities of two combined hands. Theory and practice do not always jibe, however. There are risks that inevitably attend "exploring." In a bridge sense, the risk is that, in the search for the best trump suit, too high a bidding level may be reached. With hands whose honor strength is doubtful, it is better to rest at a reasonably good contract, while the opponents remain quiescent, than to climb into the "doubling range" in search of a better one.

The bidding: South West North East hearts Pass Pass Pass Pass spades Pass Pass Pass Pass

Particularly in match point duplicate it is wise to open third hand with a minimum holding. This, however, does not mean that the opener should continue bidding merely because he gets a so-called positive response from his partner. North's action in passing to the two hearts was eminently proper. Presumably South had a five card suit for his overall at the two level and, although North himself had only two, it was far better to drop the bidding at a low stage than to search for a better spot at the possible expense of reaching a high level. The logic of North's action was made manifest by the final result.

Against an opening diamond lead the declarer, playing quite normally, lost only two heart tricks and two clubs, for a score of 90 plus the part-score bonus. Actually, he could have made four-odd by leading a heart to ward dummy and, when West promptly ducked, putting in the ten. But this would have been incorrect technique, succeeding only because of the particular heart break that existed.

Had North searched for a better spot, it probably would have been found, but the result would not have been as happy. Had North bid two spades over two hearts, South then would have shown his diamond suit. North, of course, would pass and four-odd in diamonds would have been made. But this would have returned only a point score of 80, plus 50, which would not give as good a match point score as did the heart contract.
