Town Meeting Gets Three-Year Air Contract

Continuation of America's Town Meeting of the Air over the networks of the National Broadcasting co. was assured today with the signing of a three-year contract by officials of NBC and Town Hall, Inc.

In the past, Town Meeting speakers have discussed primarily political and economic problems. In the future, their discussions also will include questions of social and cultural significance, covering the fields of science, literature, and art.

The terms of the new agreement provide for an additional month in each annual series. Under this arrangement, each series will last six months, beginning in November and continuing until May 1.

Perhaps some day soon a small radio version of your daily newspaper may be delivered into your home by radio. Here we see an invention for such a purpose being demonstrated before the National Association of Broadcasters in Washington. According to Charles J. Young, research engineer of the Radio corp. of America, the machine is designed as a radio set intermediate between present sound sets and future television machines. Sponsors explained it can transmit letter-size pages of type, drawings, cartoons and photographs into home and print them on a roll of paper.

Marquette proved itself superior to Michigan State earlier this season when they defeated the Spartans, 41-35, on the Spartans home floor.

While the Hilltoppers broke even on their southern trip, losing to Kentucky and defeating Butler, they are anxious to defeat Michigan State to avenge two two-point defeats this season.
