By Robert Taylor: Here's a list of headline radio attactions for the week, beginning Myself and Radio

THE WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL

EDITOR'S NOAE: This is one Brice. But my greatest thrill came of a series of radio articles written a few weeks ago wren an emifor Central Press and The State nent fiddler from Waukegen, Ill., for Central Press and The State in the Indian for Central Press and The State in the Indian for Central Press and The State in the Indian for Cello, played and myself, at the 'cello, played "An Opus for 'Cello and Fiddle Being Beaten Together". Here it was I gave vent to an old frus-

in Beatrice, Neb., the son of a trated longing small-town doctor. I began what is know as a "career" by indulging in the sports and pastimes that appeal to most American boys, playing ball on the old sandlot and riding horses. I studied saxophone until the 'cello lured me away from it. My early ambition was to become a doctor and carry on the work of my father; naturpear as a violin virtuoso (even if ally enough, I chose Yale as my in horseplay), and with myself, it on the work of my father; natur-Alma Mater.

Now if those boyhood dreams had materialized, I would not be writing this piece about myself My new double life in radio and radio; I would probably be and the movies, has certainly ensmall community.

ever-widening sphere of influence. As a movie actor, my face is familiar in many lands, and lately, as a radio master of ceremonies, my voice goes into homes and these things could not be, then communities that still are be you are mistaken. Countless times, youd the reach of the movies. Surprises

Old Record Tells of Prison Lash

OSSINING, N. Y.—(U.P.)—A century-old book entitled "Punishment Record", which contains cryptic accounts of prison inmates being flogged and confined in dungeons, has been found at Auburn prison, scene of the 1929 prison riot.

The New York state correction department's publication, "Correction", reveals that Warden Joseph H. Brophy came upon the worn, leather-covered book while rummaging through past prison rec-

The book contains an affidavit of the punishment to one Charles S. Plumb, whose death caused the state legislature to demand "all the facts" from prison inspectors. The prison physician believed that Plumb died of "bilious remit-ting fever" and "that the flagellation which he received had no positive and direct agency in causing his death." The keeper who administered the blows described the punishment thus: "I did not count the blows, but I think I struck him 30 blows, or thereabouts, in all . . . There might have been more, but I do not think the number much exceeded 30, I lost the count during the scuffles" Plumb was punished with a

'cat" described a s a "rawhide whip" with six strands, for breaking windows and destroying other property under the "pretense of being crazy. Convicts were flogged for all sorts of offenses, from "fastening a paper wet with turpentine to a convict's clothes and firing it", to "making a noise imitating a calf and a rooster." The fundamental rule was "non-intercourse among convicts." Rules forbade convicts to "speak to each other, communicate by signs, sing, whistle, dance or run. The book recorded showers with buckets of cold water for laughing and talking.

Card of Thanks

Regarding a Card of Thanks Regarding a Card of Thanks in The Wisconsin State Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known. Insertion of a Card of Thanks may be arranged by calling the Wisconsin State Journal Want Ad Department or the Funeral Director to charge. The charge is $1.00. in charge. The charge is $1.00.
