DeValera to Greet U.S. In St. Patrick's Day Address from Dublin

St. Patrick's day will be treated from two opposite angles on the air tonight and Thursday—once in a serious talk, again in a "jam session." The former will reach listeners through WBBM at 3:15 p. m. Thursday, when Eire's president, Eamon De Valera, speaks from Dublin. The latter will be aired through WENR at 9 tonight,

when "The Damnation of Shawn McFaust" is presented. The whimsical play is based, obvious-

3-Year-Old Child Lost 48 Hours Found by Searchers

LEBANON, Ky.— (INS) —Ending a frantic, 48-hour search, Michael Hays, 35, farmer, today found 3-year-old Ralph Wright uninjured in the tangled mass of underbrush in wild country near his farm home.

Ralph who had wandered through 10 square miles of woods and rolling country since he disappeared Sunday afternoon while with his brother, William, 15, was with Walton C. Brother department hungry and cold.

The child was walking down a knoll in the direction of his home when Hays sighted him.
"Come and get me," the boy cried as Hays ran toward him.

Rover Doesn't Have to Walk That 'Last Mile'

MILWAUKEE-(U.R)- Rover, a five-year-old Spitz, will not walk "the last mile," because a kind hearted farmer and a lenient judge intervened. Rover was sentenced to death by Dist. Judge Harvey L. Neelen on March 9, after Rover had bitten a child. A Germantown, Wis., farmer heard of Rover's fate and told Rover's master, Otto Radmer, that he would take care of the dog. Judge Neelen commuted the death sentence to exile on the farm.

Northern Brewing Wins injunction Against Sale

Forestalling a sheriff's sale of its brewery property under for-closure judgment, the Northern Brewing co., Superior, filed a corporate reorganization petition under Sec. 77-B of the bankruptcy act in federal court today.

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone granted a temporary injunction restraining the sale set for March 19, and scheduled a hearing March 30 on the question of a permanent order and the appointment of a trustee.

The company's petition alleges that the brewery property has a value of $140,000, greatly exceeding the $33,130 due on a first mortgage foreclosure judgmen held by Victor Nelson. City Gets Rain But Escapes Iciness, Snow

A series of drizzles Tuesday, followed by a sharp thunder shower early today, brought Madison .72 of an inch of rain, but the iciness and snow threatened in the

The temperature rose above freezing over most of Wisconsin to obviate slippery conditions, but Park Falls, Wis., and Marquette, Mich., reported freezing rain. Of Madison's precipitation, .47 of an inch fell before 7 a. m. today and .25 of an inch after that hour, the weather bureau reported.

Another low pressure movement was coming on, and even though it should move eastward through Canada the result at least should be warmer weather for Madison, said Eric R. Miller, government meteorologist. The center was near Prince Rupert on the British Columbia coast early today, and heavy rains resumed along the Pacific coast.
