Robertson Favors Biennial Games in Place of Olympics

BY JACK CUDDY (Copyright 1934, by United Press) PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Lawson Robertson, coach of the last four American Olympic track and field teams, suggests that a biennial athletic competition among the United States, the commonwealth of the British empire, France and the Scandinavian countries be substituted for the Olympic games.

Robertson of Pennsylvania U. believes that competitions every two years among the above named countries would serve better, the cause of international athletics than the Olympics which threaten to become enmeshed in national rivalries.

"The 1936 games in Germany and those planned for Japan in '40 leave a taste in my mouth," Robertson said in an exclusive interview. "They smack of diplomatic intrigue rather than sportsmanship."

May Be Beaten at Tokyo If Coach Robertson felt this way about the modern Olympics, would he accept the post of track and field pilot again, if named for the job?

"Certainly I would," said the 54-year-old mentor. "I would be glad to assist the 1940 team, because I'm sure the United States squad will need plenty of help and supervision."

What did he mean by that? "I mean that the American team—at least the track and field representation—probably will be beaten at Tokyo for the first time since the United States entered Olympic competition in 1896. Our track and field strength, at least, may be weakened considerably by Japan's change of the dates for 1940. They have set them Sept. 21-Oct. 6. That means the American squad could not return home until about Nov. 1, and that many college athletes might be unable to compete. Remember, about 60 per cent of our recent track and field men have been college undergraduates."

"When you consider the attitude of many university officials towards sports, you can appreciate that a number of college athletes might not be given special permission to make the long trip to Tokyo and be absent from their studies during much of the autumn semester in 1940."

In addition to the collegiate handicaps Coach Robertson also emphasized the possible difficulty of financing a complete United States representation in Japan. "You recall the difficulties we had raising funds for the representation that went to Berlin after the anti-Nazi hue and cry," he said. "Well, it seems to me that there is considerable pro-Chinese sympathy in our country right now. Our funds are raised by public subscription. This is one of the few countries in which the government gives no Olympic subsidy. If our people do not contribute, we do not get the necessary funds."

Robertson warned also that, with 37 countries competing in the Olympics, with international bickerings increasing, and with the site of the games being moved farther and farther away from the centers of athletic population, the games were becoming too unwieldy for concentration on the athletes.

"I understand that Melbourne, Australia, is campaigning now to have the Olympics held there in 1944," he said.

Whether we have Olympics or biennial games among a few chosen countries, Robertson believes the contests should always be held in a city near the centers of athletic population, preferably Athens, Greece, cradle of Olympiads.

He prefers biennial competitions instead of the Quadrennial Olympic games, because he believes that many fine athletes reach their peaks and fade during the four-year interim; then fail to make a team—the great goal of all amateur athletes. And the pressure competition among the United States, Britain, France and the Scandinavian countries, because these nations seldom are involved in international disputes and "have a clearer understanding of Olympic ideals."

Robertson said many prominent Englishmen favor this type of competition. Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley, well known British sportsman and promoter of London's famous Wembley stadium, discussed this proposition thoroughly with Robertson during the Berlin games.
