But will he lose? That, my friends, is a question causing almost as much debate along bruiser boulevard as the Louis-Schmeling issue. At the present writng it seems that Ross will go into the right a slight favorite because of his superior boxing technique, experience, and weight advantage. He may be top man at 6-5 or 7-5. Should 29 - year - old Barney make a poor showing in training; the odds may shift to Armstrong, who arrives Sunday from Hot Springs, Ark., to start conditioning at Pompton Lakes, N. J. Barney's condition will be the paramount factor in this fight, because his ability or inability to stand the terrific pace Armstrong sets unquestionably will determine the winner. Even the most ardent Armstrong admirer will admit

This bout has aroused tremendous interest in New York where both Ross and Armstrong are popular. It is expected to draw at least $225,000, and Bill Farnsworth, matchmaker of the 20th Century Club, says it may exceed $300,000. The promise of two champions — two exceptional fighters—battling it out is enough to excite anyone's interest.

Personally, I hope Barney retains his title. I hope he doesn't retire. Besides, Armstrong has another world to conquer yet the lightweight realm. But I don't think the welter champ can beat Armstrong. I don't think he will
