State to Be Thrust This Week Into Colorful Vote Campaign

By WINTER EVERETT
This week Wisconsin will be thrust into what promises to be a colorful campaign even for this state.

The republicans will open their fight at the convention of Young Republicans called for Saturday at Oshkosh. The democrats will have a session of the state central committee of that party May 28 at Stevens Point and this meeting will be of more than ordinary importance because the organization leaders of the democrats are trying to avoid primary battles for that party and hope unopposed selections can be arranged at the Stevens Point meeting. The democrats will have a general pow pow June 4, six days after the state central committee meeting at Milwaukee. It is the scope of organization leaders that this will be an endorsement gathering for the program mapped at Stevens Point.

FIP Convention May 21
The progressives are facing a convention of the Farmer-Labor-Progressive federation May 21 in Central high school here. General political interest centers around this convention which Gov. La Follette and his associates seek to control.

It looks, however, as if the convention will be full of fireworks. Mayor D. W. Hoan and other Milwaukee leaders of the federation are taking a position indicating they will attempt to compel the governor to lay all of his political cards on the table at the session. Their first demand will be that Gov. La Follette inform the convention whether he contemplates running for a fourth term. Most federation leaders expect an affirmative answer but seem to think Gov. La Follette will not respond even to a call from the convention that he be a candidate. These federationists expect a resolution to be placed before the convention calling for the nomination of State Treasurer Theodore Dammann for governor and Adj. Gen. Ralph Imnell for U. S. senator.

Would Bring Fight
An attempt to commit the federationists to this program will precipitate a convention fight. It is said that men close to William T. Evjue, Capital Times editor, will oppose endorsement of both Secretary of State Dammann and General Imnell. Mayor D. W. Hoan of Milwaukee, at least will oppose endorsement of Imnell on the ground that he is not a member of the federation.

There will be also a fight in the convention over a resolution endorsing the launching of a new national party by Governor La Follette. Mayor Hoan will ask that before such a resolution is adopted the principles on which Gov. La Follette expects to stand in battling for his new party be clearly defined. Perhaps the convention may compel raising of the curtain on future political plans of La Follette.

At the democratic state central committee meeting energetic support will be sought for Daniel J. Grady's candidacy for governor and reelection of Sen. Duffy.

Friends of Grady strongly intimate that his preference is for a senatorial candidacy and they go so far as to declare that if Grady enters the political arena it will be as an opponent of Duffy for the senatorial nomination. Grady may air his plans prior to the meeting.

There is talk, also, that if Grady does not desire to be the democratic gubernatorial candidate, an effort will be made to bring forward State Treasurer Robert K. Henry, Jefferson, into the field. Henry also has been mentioned for the democratic nomination of state treasurer. He is willing to be a candidate, it is reported.

To Gauge Enthusiasm
The Young Republican convention at Oshkosh Saturday will be largely interesting in the size of the attendance and the enthusiasm shown. The work of the convention will include the drafting of a proposed party platform.

Endorsement of candidates for the republican nominations of governor and United States senator may be asked of the Young Republicans. It is doubtful, however, if republicans naming any particular candidate will be carried in the convention.

Col. Frank Knox, Chicago, the republican vice presidential nominee in the 1937 presidential campaign will speak before the Young Republicans either Saturday afternoon or night. The issues on state questions will be discussed and framed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Young Republicans Friday at the Hotel Rolph in Oshkosh. The convention sessions on Saturday will be held in the Athearn Hotel.

Phil Elated With New Party Response

Gov. La Follette is 41 years old today. As a matter of incidental intelligence the average age at which American presidents have been elected is 54.

The governor's birthday comes 10 days after the birth of his new national party—National Progressives of America. Since his dramatic announcement in the stock pavilion Apr. 28, the infant party has been greeted with a crescendo of press comment and an almost deadly silence from active politicians.

Governor Elated
Nevertheless, the governor and his associates appear elated with the national response to the drive for a political action. Ten thousand letters and telegrams have poured into Madison, a heavy majority of which are distinctly favorable, the governor's aids said.

The response has come from every state in the union, including Maine and Vermont, it was said. Letters have arrived from not only farm and labor groups, but from professional men, school teachers, and business men, it was pointed out.

Gov. La Follette and the men around him have been especially pleased with the "quality" of the men and women who have written or wired their reaction. They emphasized the surprisingly small percentage of political and economic "crackpots."

There have been criticisms aplenty. Some people dislike the emblem—a cross with a circle—and the general appearance of what they call "fascist tendencies. Jews and liberals of all shades, who despise anything remotely resembling a swastika, have expressed concern.

There is the criticism, too, that the time for new political action is not ripe, that a progressive party will ultimately divide the nation's liberal forces into warring camps. There is also the criticism that the new party is too much of a one-man show, that its base is not nearly democratic enough.

These criticisms are being combated by the governor and his associates.

Joshua L. Johns, Algoma manufacturer, will address a joint service club meeting at the Hotel Loraine Tuesday noon, on "Life Insurance from the Buyer's Point of View." Johns, a former international president of Kiwanis, is speaking under auspices of the Madison Life Underwriters' assn.

Reis Ruling Hits at Total Wage Cuts

Employers, in shifting union workers from weekly to hourly basis, must pay them at least as much under the hourly system as they paid before, Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis contended Saturday.

His decision came in a declaratory judgment sought by the Cleaners, Dyers and Laundry Workers International, Local No. 229, against the Quality Service Laundry, in a test case.

The union contended that some Madison laundry employes in shifting from a weekly basis to an hourly basis under a contract, received less than before.

"We now hold that the parties did not intend to reduce the wages of an employee who was changed from a weekly to an hourly basis of employment," Judge Reis said.

He concluded that "as a matter of general construction, it is not to be assumed that the union, which submitted the contract, expected that any of its members would be worse off after entering into the contract than before."

A Dog Becomes a Blind Man's 'Eyes'

Rarely is there a closer companionship between two human beings than that which exists between a dog and his master, and John Stann, Milwaukee, will explain and demonstrate this fact when he is guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Badger Kennel club Tuesday night, May 17, at the Capitol hotel.

Although he has been blind less than two years, Mr. Stann trusts his life to the careful guidance of his Seeing Eye dog, "Sonia," who will be heard with her master. He secured his dog about a year ago from the Seeing Eye Institution at Morristown, N. J.

The Seeing Eye dogs are trained at Morristown at a cost of $1,000, but they may be secured by the blind for $150, which includes all expenses for the man during a month's training period with the dog at the headquarters. Wealthy people throughout the country finance the venture.

On their arrival at Morristown, blind candidates are during which time, unbeknown to themselves, they are studied by attendants who seek to select the best dog for the individual's temperament. Nervous dogs, for instance, are never assigned to nervous candidates. When the dog and man are finally brought together, they are given a few more days to get acquainted. For months the dog has been starved for human companionship and is more than ready for the affection and attention his new master gives him.

Days of practice walks follow in which the two adjust themselves to one another. Daily walks take the two through traffic on the busy streets of Morristown which has a population of about 15,000.

Chairman of the general committee for the dinner is George Kempf. Working with him are Arthur Gullickson and Kenneth Shaw. Grace Jewell is chairman of the ticket committee which includes Mrs. Lee Odgaard and Mrs. George Kempf.

Seven Madison Students Elected to Haresfoot

Seven Madison students were included in the list of 25 that were elected to the Haresfoot club, University of Wisconsin all-men's dramatic society which closed its fortieth anniversary season at the Parkway Saturday night.

The Madison men are: James Bennett, Arthur Beekin, Alden Kelly, Fred Niles, Lawrence Fitzpatrick, Joseph Mackin, and Richard Crowley.

The others are: Seymour Horwitz, John Dawdy, Maurice Shovitz, Richard Kepler, Norman Harms, Paul Godfrey, Fred Gruenette, Lee Emmerich, Paul Schuette, Donald Spruts, Gordon Heath, Durwood Jenks, Charles Goff, Don Henningsfeld, Marshall Holloway, Ralph Mehls, Sydney Jacobson, and Douglas Barrett.

The elections were held during a meeting of the club after the matinee Saturday and were announced during the club's annual on-stage banquet in which cast, chorus, orchestra, and production staffs appeared with their makeup and costumes.

With the conclusion of the season Saturday night, the Haresfoot club has put on 13 performances of "Let's Talk Turkey." Out of town shows were given in Wausau, Appleton, Green Bay, Ripon, Racine, Milwaukee, and Janesville.

Present officers of the group are Howard Teichmann, president; Max T. Nelson, publicity director; Joseph Bubul, business manager; Stephen Gavin, treasurer; Charles Winkler, vice-president; Robert Genske, secretary; and Michael Ashdown, Keeper of the Haresfoot.

Germany Cool to Mediate Czech Crisis

Simultaneously the conciliatory attitude of the Czech government was seen in the announcement that they were ready to aid in solving the German minority question but asked that Prague grant the most generous concessions possible to the Sudeten Germans.

It was announced officially that B. C. Newton, British minister, and Victor de la Croix, French minister, called upon Kamil Krofka, Czech foreign minister and informed him that the British and French expected his government to give satisfaction to reasonable demands made by Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, compatible with the integrity of the state, although they hoped Prague would offer maximum concessions.

England, France Ready to Mediate Czech Crisis

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia. (U.P.)—Great Britain and France informed Czechoslovakia Saturday that they were ready to aid in solving the German minority question but asked that Prague grant the most generous concessions possible to the Sudeten Germans.

Want a Bucking Bronco?

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Thirty bucking broncos had the judges of the U. S. district court "up in the air" and pleading for help Saturday.

The court announced that it wants bids—quickly—on the broncos. Anybody, it said, that wants a horse he probably can't ride can get it cheap.

The broncos were left in the court's hands when Col. Tim McCoy's real wild west show was placed in receivership. The court appointed a receiver who confessed that he knows nothing about "breaking" wild horses.

"I tried to sell them to the army but they turned me down without thanks," said E. M. Towland, the receiver. "What the heck does one do with a bronco anyway?"

He called on the court for plenty of hay. The court agreed to feed the horses but declined to feed the cowboys who were thrown "on their own."

batted by the small army of National Progressives of America who are arrayed behind the new movement. More than 3,000 persons have already enrolled in the party and they are serving as the advance agents in promoting the party in their communities.

Administration leaders appeared confident that when people everywhere have had an opportunity to hear detailed explanations on the new party much of their concern will disappear. However, there is still no indication of when the governor will enunciate his complete program.

Repeated requests for additional specifications are greeted with a knowing smile and a statement that the entire program will be developed in good time. It is understood that the governor will re-appear in a series of major addresses throughout the nation.

Meanwhile, political observers waited with intense interest the state meetings May 21 and 22 of the Wisconsin Farmer-Labor-Progressive Federation in Madison and Minnesota Farmer-Labor party in St. Paul. Both meetings carried a year ago party a great deal of good or a great deal of injury, depending on what action they take.

There have been criticisms aplenty. Some people dislike the emblem—a cross with a circle—and the general appearance of what they call "fascist tendencies. Jews and liberals of all shades, who despise anything remotely resembling a swastika, have expressed concern.
