'Seventh Heaven' of Sports Will Be May 26-June 27

By JACK CUDDY (Copyright 1938 by United Press)

NEW YORK—We ascend to the "seventh heaven" of sports for a month and a day between May 26 and June 27. In that brief period sports fans of the world will be treated to some of the liveliest and most colorful competitions in history. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Fan, attired in their newest and gayest summer raiment, will sit in on classics in pugilism, racing, tennis, golf, track and rowing—meanwhile watching American major league baseball clubs find their strides in the pennant races.

On the night of May 26, Barney Ross, world welterweight champion, will try to defend his crown in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden bowl against featherweight champion Henry Armstrong. Because of the calibre and styles of the contestants, this should be one of the grandest bouts ever staged. Even now, you'll find fandom divided almost equally in support of Ross or Armstrong.

On Memorial day, May 30, we shift with our binoculars and bankrolls to beautiful Belmont Park, N. Y., or to the speedway at Indianapolis, Ind.

"Race of the Century" At Belmont we have the "race of the century," in which War Admiral, champion three-year-old of '37, meets Seabiscuit, handicapper of '37, in a $100,000 match race. This match should be the best ever held. Meanwhile, around the brick saucer at Indianapolis, Little Wilbur Shaw will be defending his auto racing championship, in the '600-mile classic, in the same car, which won last year—but going faster this time because high test fuel, in unlimited quantities may be used.

On June 1, racing fans of the British Empire and sweepstakes ticket holders throughout the rest of the world will be electrified during the running of the British derby at Epsom Downs, England. On June 3 and 4, the ace amateur golfer of the United States, led by Captain Francis Quimmet, will try to continue the unbroken American supremacy in Walker cup competition at St. Andrews, Scotland. Golfers of the world will watch this play, realizing that Uncle Sam has one of the youngest Walker teams in history.

On June 2, crack golfers of the United States will start competition for the U. S. open championship, top crown of the links. Ralph Guldahl will defend against one of the most menacing fields ever to face a champion. This tournament at Englewood, Colo., is a three-day competition.

The next day, June 10, our Wightman Cup tennis team—featuring by the return of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody—will start its two-day matches with the best British women players at Wimbledon, England.

Poughkeepsie June 27 On June 17 and 18 the National Collegiate A. A. track and field championships will be held at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. And on June 18, Princeton's annual invitation track meet will be held probably featuring another big mile.

On June 20, the "world series" of tennis starts at Wimbledon, England, in which Helen Wills Moody and Donard Budge are virtually certain to compete.

The $1,000,000 prize fight between Champion Joe Louis and Max Schmeling is scheduled for Yankee Stadium, N. Y., on the night of June 22. This should be the greatest heavyweight brawl since the second Tunney-Dempsey fight in '27. It has international flavor—a German former titleholder seeks to regain the crown from a Negro champion under Jewish promotion. It should provide one of the most magnificent spectacles in pugilistic history.

FDR Asks Conservation of Phosphates

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt, in a special message to congress, Friday, called for adoption of a national policy for the production and conservation of phosphate resources "for the benefit of this and coming generations."

Mr. Roosevelt suggested that a joint committee of the senate and house be named to study phosphate resources, their use and service to American agriculture and to report to the next congress. At his press conference, Mr. Roosevelt stressed the necessity for developing a policy and called attention to the need of phosphates in the land.

He said that it had been brought home to him in his study that no life could be successfully produced with sufficient phosphates and that he was speaking of all life—human, animal and plant. "I can not overemphasize," the president advised congress, "the importance of phosphorous, not only to agriculture and soil conservation but also to the physical health and economic security of the nation. Many of our soil types are deficient in phosphorous, thus the Thames at New London, Conn., on June 24 will be a colorful affair, but lacking in that nationwide appeal of the world's grandest annual sweep-swimming extravaganza, the Poughkeepsie regatta, on the blue Hudson at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on June 27. Washington's varsity will try to register its third straight triumph, with Navy now considered the chief hope of the east.

causing low yields and poor quality of crops and pastures." Phosphates are indispensable because of their food property values and are basic requirements in manufacture of munitions, fertilizer, and other products.

New Booklets Advertise Recreation Spots

FORT ATKINSON—About 15,000 booklets advertising southern Wisconsin recreational facilities have been mailed to interested parties or shipped to travel bureaus in all sections of the country, it was announced today by Palmer E. Daugs, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Wisconsin Lakeland assn. Around 10,000 more booklets will be distributed within the next few weeks, he said. The association president, Ralph N. Seward, Lake Mills, and Daugs have just completed a tour into Illinois and Indiana where they delivered copies of the booklet to numerous travel agencies and motor clubs.

The association, organized a year ago, is composed of men from Madison, Lake Mills, Cambridge, Fort Atkinson, Whitewater, Stoughton, Edgerton, and Janesville. Each city has one executive committee member who in the order of the cities named are as follows: William Frederick, G. A. Strauss, P. C. Westphal, Frank Bell, W. C. Hearst, F. M. Marsh, Herbert Goede, and A. Roger Cook.

Walkout? Platteville Surprised

PLATTEVILLE—The campus of Platteville State Teachers college, reported by various newspapers to be "ired, smarting, and threatening," today was a calm and peaceful spot, undisturbed by reports concerning 400 students who were reported to be ready to stage a walk-out. If there was a strike here, neither the students nor faculty knew about it. A city newspaper circulated here Friday had reported that the cause of the alleged fracas was the dismissal of M. S. Latham, teacher in animal husbandry, and a subsequent editorial in the "Exponent," student newspaper, criticizing the school's refusal to rehire the instructor. The newspaper reported that at an extraordinary meeting of the faculty an order was issued prohibiting publication of the newspaper.

Joseph Lins, Spring Green, editor of the "Exponent," today denied that he had written any critical editorial, and explained the fact that the paper had not been published with the statement that the "Exponent," a bi-weekly paper, was not due to be published until next week. A. M. Royce, president of the college, denied that there had been any faculty meeting to discuss the supposed uprising and said: "There has been no student strike at the college. There will be none. The most peaceful conditions prevail upon the campus. Any rumor or report that the Exponent, student publication, was criticized because of an editorial

Regarding the employment of Latham is denied."

President Royce said that a year ago an administrative committee was appointed to establish a new policy of control for the Exponent. On the committee are four students: Robert McNett, Leslie Janke, Joseph C. Irish, and Lauren Abrams; and three faculty members: Erle J. Stoneman, H. C. Wilkerson, and Miss Helen Skemp. Pres. Royce claimed that "the old methods of control" are to give way at the college in various lines, among which the new board of control for the Exponent was included. He said that the change had been "misinterpreted."

WGN Baritone Sued for Divorce

Lawrence Salerno, staff baritone at WGN, Chicago, and a former Madison resident, was sued for divorce in Chicago this week by Mrs. Caroline O. Salerno, who charged he struck her. The couple was married March 22, 1920, separated April 13, 1938.

BANK TO GUARD ROYAL PLATES LONDON—(AP)—Windsor Castle's famous gold plates, used only for state banquets, will be sent to vaults in the Bank of England in the event of air-raid danger.

ATTEND FUNERAL Mrs. Rena Francois, Madison, Walter Francois and Miss Geraldine Kessenich, both of Waunakee, returned Thursday from Elma, Ia., where they were called by the sudden death of Mrs. Francois' brother-in-law, Albert Francois, formerly of Belleville.
