Brilliant example of a guest star who made so good that he was given a permanent spot on the show in Colonel Q. Stoopnagle, above. "Snop" appeared as Guest Wizard of the "Tower Hall Tonight" summer show early in the series. So enthusiastic was his reception that he was awarded a regular job. He's now heard with Harry von Zell Wednesday nights over the NBC-Red network.

Pro Elevens May Adopt New System

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—That National Football League teams will undertake extensive training trips within the next year, similar to those which have become traditional with big league baseball teams, is the prediction of John Blood (McNally), playing coach of Pittsburgh's football Pirates.

If you listen to John Blood (McNally) long enough, he will convince you that extensive training trips for major league footballers are not a fantasy, but a logical solution of one of the league's problems.

NEW YORK—(UP)—With respect, I pick Henry Armstrong to wrest the world lightweight championship from Lou Ambers Wednesday night.

I dislike making this prediction because Lou, "The Laughing Boy," is my closest friend among active fighters. He has regarded me as a sort of journalistic godfather since early 1934 when I wrote a prediction that this virtually unknown scrapper would become lightweight king.

Electricity Rates Reduced $3,200 a Year at Evansville

Lower rates ordered by the public service commission will reduce the electric bill of customers of the municipal utility of Cassville Grant county, about $3,200 a year, the commission said today.

The commission said the reduction followed an investigation disclosing an excessive return on the utility's investment and negotiations resulting in a lower charge on wholesale energy purchased from Interstate Power Co.
