W. A. Stolte, Reedsburg Leader, Dies

REEDSBURG-W. A. Stolte, Sr., 72, prominent Reedsburg merchant and an active civic figure for more than two decades, died Saturday night at his home here after a 10 days' illness.

Mr. Stolte was city alderman for 21 years and president of the common council most of that period, park commissioner for 15 years and city utility commission for the past three years.

At the time of his death he held the presidency of St. John's Lutheran congregation. He engaged in the mercantile business in Reedsburg for more than 40 years, and later went into the cold storage business.

His survivors include the widow and three children, W. A. Stolte, Jr., Madison; Mrs. Ray Albright, Akron, O., and Herbert Stolte, Dallas, Tex.

U. W. Extension Classes Will Begin Monday

Instruction in several newly organized classes in university subjects will begin Monday under university faculty direction, the extension division announced Saturday. Enrolments are open in all subjects. Schedules are:

Mental hygiene, a series of lectures, for teachers and others, by members of the medical staff of Wisconsin Psychiatric institute, 4:30 p. m., in room 342, Madison vocational school;

Conservation of natural re-sources, under Prof. J. R. Whitaker, 8:15 p. m. Bascom hall. Morris to Teach German German 2a, under M. C. Morris, 7 p. m., 68 Bascom.

Regular instruction will begin Tuesday at 7 in commercial drawing and painting at the art education building, and at 7:30 in a course on the pre-school child, in 51 Bascom.

The course in mental hygiene pertains to factors in the behavior of children who do not adjust themselves to the classroom or the community. The Madison board of education, indicating a special teachers who enroll.

Conservation Course

The conservation course has special reference to the resources of Wisconsin. It qualifies teachers for giving instruction required by law for the teaching of conservation in the public schools. The field organization staff of the extension division is answering inquiries on class offerings and
