Prepares for Parley

LONDON—(U.P.)—Great Britain Arab kings of Saudi Arabia, Iraq today faces the most serious chaland Transjordan. It is estimated every effort of the authorities to seal the frontiers.

The present revolt is a last desperate fight by the Arab Nationalists against the policy of a Jewish National Home under which Great Britain has governed Palestine for the past 20 years.

aid down in the famous "Balfour Declaration" of Nov. 2, 1917, and recognized in the peace treaties at the end of the World war. The declaration was made in a letter from the late Arthur James Balfour, at that time British foreign secretary, to Lord Rothschild. It

"His Majesty's government views the Jewish people, and will use Jews. their best endeavors to facilitate Tod the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that but to recover parts of the Holy nothing shall be done to prejudice Land which fell completely into the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine, or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country.'

The aims outlined in this declaration became a basic part of British policy when Great Britain in 1919 was given a mandate by the League of Nations to govern Palestine. It further was endorsed when the United States, in a treaty signed Dec. 3, 1924, agreed to the terms of the British Holy Land mandate. The existence of that treaty explains why Great Brit-ain must seek authorization from the United States as well as from the League of Nations for any contemplated alteration in the form of Palestine's administration. At the end of the World War Palestine still was an Arab counry. It contained only 55,000 Jews,

It was estimated that by the end of that year Jewish capital invested in Palestine had reached a total of $29,000,000. The smouldering wrath of the Arab Nationalists flamed, into open revolt again and in March, 1933, the Arab executive committee published a manifesto virtually declaring war on both Jews and British.

General Strike Called

The revolt culminated in a genand other cities in which 27 were killed and 243 wounded. This time the brunt of the Arab attacks was war against both Jews and the British authorites. British troops were rushed to Palestine, which was placed under martial law. Jewish colonies were attacked, called off, as suddenly as it had concealed in his car.

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR. | begun, on the intervention of the lenge to its authority in Palestine 1,000 Arabs were killed and thou-in the past 20 years. The Jewish death roll was 82, with 308 Jews wounded. It is estimated the revolt cost the Palestine treas-

> Holy Cities, to remain under British mandate.

The publication of the Peel commission report was the signal for he outbreak of the most savage warfare Palestine has known in 20 years. That war still is continuing. Between May 1 and Nov. 7 this year alone 36 British troops, 367 Arabs and 206 Jews were killed. That does not include some thousands of Arab rebels killed in action, whose exact number probably never will be known. with favor the establishment in known wounded totalled 94 Brit-Palestine of a National Home for ish troops, 370 Arabs and 420

Today a British army is fighting not only to stamp out the revolt rebel hands. The round-table conference of British, Arab and Jew-ish representatives meeting in London in the near future is the last effort by Great Britain to reach a peaceful settlement by negotiation instead of armed force

The British government, working in close co-operation with the Zionist organization known as the "Jewish Agency," immediately set to work to fulfill the pledge of Jewish National Home, flooded into Palestine as agricultural and industrial workers. construction of hospitals, schools, clinics and railroads were hurried forward. In some areas entirely new cities with an all-Jewish population rose.

Rioting Began in 1920

The Arabs were incensed at the influx of Jews and serious rioting against the Jews broke out in Jaffa in April, 1920, and again in Jerusalem in May, 1921. These two outbreaks resulted in a death-toll of nearly 100. At the same time the Arabs refused to co-operate in the setting up of a legislative council for Palestine.

From 1926 to 1929 the flood of Jewish immigration abated owing to economic depression and the country was comparatively quiet. Rioting and bloodshed flared up again, however, in August, 1929, in a dispute between Arabs and Jews about the historic Wailing Wall in Jerusalem. In nearly a week of rioting 133 Jews were killed and 339 wounded. The Arabs lost 116 killed and 232 were wounded.

During the next three years the flow of Jewish immigrants became eral strike of the Arabs and savage rioting at Jaffa, Nablus, Haifa directed at the British government rather than the Jews. A still more serious outbreak began in April, 1936. Under the leadership of a Syrian guerilla fighter, Fawzi ed Din el Kauwakji, formerly an officer in the Turkish army, the Arabs launched an open Partition Urged in 1936 Early in November, 1936, the British government sent a royal commission headed by Earl Peel to seck a solution of the so far insoluble problem of Arab - Jewish antagonism. The commission rec-ommended division of Palestine into three parts—an independent Arab state, an independent Jewish state and an area, including the
