Virginia Bruce, Douglas To Be Good News Show Guests

Russian Soprano Discovery Will Also Be Heard; Rudy Vallee Schedules Thursday Evening Drama

Melvyn Douglas and Virginia Bruce, one of radio's newest dramatic teams, will pay a return visit to Good News of 1939 as guests of Robert Young, Good News M. C., during the broadcast Thursday at 9 p. m. over WEAF.

Zarova, Russian soprano who is familiar to NBC listeners since her discovery by Meredith Willson, also will join the guest list, to sing "Kak Strano" from the forthcoming picture "Idiot's Delight." Tony Martin will offer "Siboney" and Willson's concert hall selection will be "March Militaire." Other selections will be "This Can't Be Love" and a medley from the film "Honolulu."

Frank Morgan, Fanny (Baby Snooks) Brice and Hanley (Daddy Snooks) Stafford will be heard in comedy sequences.

Guy Kibbee and C. Aubrey Smith, two of the screen's foremost character actors, will join forces on the Rudy Vallee program Thursday, and will be heard together in a drama over WEAF at 8 p. m.

Oswald and Stanton, comedy team first heard together on the Vallee program, will make a return visit to the program. Oswald formerly was with Ken Murray. Ernie Stanton teamed in vaudeville with his brother, Val, for a number of years.

Other acts on this program will include Bud Taylor, novelty xylophonist, and Jane Warren, child singing prodigy who was engaged for the Vallee program during Vallee's orchestral engagement in Hollywood.

A sports page of the air, with latest sports news and human interest stories of the men who have written blazing chapters in the history of track and field, of football, baseball and crew, will be edited by Bill Stern, NBC sports commentator, in a new series of broadcasts to be heard over WEAF beginning Thursday, at 6:30 p. m.

Patterned on the sports section of a regular newspaper, the program, entitled, Bill Stern's Sport Scraps, will be divided into four columns, each of which will deal with a different phase of the sports parade.

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, Hollywood's most famous married couple, will join the cast of "Tune-Up Time," for a guest appearance on the second broadcast of the new variety series, to be heard Thursday evening, at 10 to 10:45 p. m., over WABC.

In a comic singing number entitled "Life At Home," the celebrated screen pair will tell the "Tune-Up Time" air audience what two-star family life is like. After that, Husband Powell will assert his independence with "I Get Along Without You Very Well," a new tune by Hoagy Carmichael. Warner's famous singing star will also be heard in "Jeepers Creepers," from his new movie, "Going Places."

Romantic baritone Jerry Cooper and the ensemble—the Devore Sisters and the eight men, under the direction of William Stoess—will feature a trio of favorite tunes, "Blame It On My Last Affair," "This Can't Be Love," and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," on Vocal Varieties, Thursday over WEAF at 7:15 p. m. The Smoothies—Babs, Charlie and Little—and the male octet will swing along with "I Must See Annie Tonight."

Colonel Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle takes his life in his hands and visits Bing Crosby and Bob Burns in the Music Hall Thursday. Other guests who join Crosby, Burns, the Paul Taylor chorus and John Scott Trotter's orchestra in the broadcast over WEAF at 10 p. m. are Anita Louise, of the movies, and Emanuel Feuermann, world famous cellist.

Claire Trevor, blonde cinema favorite, will be guest star of the "Kate Smith Hour" in its broadcast over WABC Thursday, at 8:00 p. m.

A second feature of the evening will be the repeat appearance of Johnnie Williams and his Swingsmiths. Johnnie's rhythm quintet was picked from among fellow musicians in Jack Miller's band by the diminutive drummer who is recognized in his profession as tops in traps.

A work which its composer didn't dare to explain will be heard during the broadcast of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Jose Iturbi, Thursday from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. over WJZ. The program, consisting of two old fables retold in modern musical dress, will open with Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" Suite, and conclude with Richard Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel."

Sullavan And Stewart Are Teamed In State's Feature

"Shopworn Angel" Is Title Of Film With "His Exciting Night" As Second Movie On Fine Double Program

Margaret Sullavan and James Stewart co-star in a drama of war days in "Shopworn Angel," one of the features now showing at the State theatre. The story concerns a young doughboy who comes to New York before going to France and falls in love with a glamorous stage actress. Also on the bill is "His Exciting Night" starring Charlie Ruggles. This is a hilarious and spooky comedy.

Continuing at the Ohio is "Stand Up and Fight," the rough and rugged drama starring Wallace Beery and Robert Taylor. The scenes are set in the town of Cumberland, Md., when a stage coach line and a railroad line were fighting for supremacy. Florence Rice and Helen Brodderick have the feminine leads.

"Swing That Cheer" a football romance starring Tom Brown, Andy Devine, Robert Wilcox and Constance Moore and "Lawless Valley" featuring George O'Brien and Kay Sutton, are two features now showing at the Sigma.

Thursday and Friday are the last two days for the showing of "There's That Woman Again" the detective comedy starring Melvyn Douglas, Virginia Bruce and Margaret Lindsay at the Quilna.

George O'Brien is the star of another picture being shown in Lima. He heads the cast in "Renegade Ranger" which is on the double bill at the Lyric. Rita Hayworth and Charles Quigley co-star in the other feature, "The Shadow."

QUILNA

"There's That Woman Again"—"that woman" being Sally Reardon of "There's Always a Woman" fame—will be here again and again and again, according to Hollywood advices.

The producers of the popular comedy-mysteries, indicate that the Reardon adventures will be continued indefinitely, presumably with Melvyn Douglas and Virginia Bruce in the starring roles.

"There's That Woman Again" is the second of the series, with Douglas again essaying the chief role as the wife-troubled Bill Reardon and Virginia Bruce portraying the troublesome wife, Sally. The new comedy is showing at the Quilna theatre.

Alexander Hall, who directed "There's Always a Woman," wielded the megaphone on the comedy's sequel. Gladys Lehman wrote the screen story which Philip G. Epstein, James Edward Grant and Ken England adapted to the screen.

Featured in the cast of "There's That Woman Again" are Margaret Lindsay, Stanley Ridges, Jonathan Hale and Pierre Watkins

SIGMA

All-American entertainment that "swings out" with a new high in action-packed football stories is unfolded in "Swing That Cheer," the picture now playing at the Sigma theatre.

As unconventional as the college youth himself, the story is at times as tricky as a triple reverse, but is always believable. It centers around a romantic campus trio, portrayed by Tom Brown, Robert Wilcox and Constance Moore.

Others in the outstanding cast are Andy Devine, Ernest Truex, Margaret Early, Raymond Parker, Samuel S. Hinds, Stanley Hughes, Douglas Weaver and David Oliver.

A rancher's suicide that is exposed by a young cattleman as murder, brings about thrilling complications in the Sigma's "Lawless Valley." George O'Brien's current western.

When his father's demise is adjudged by a crooked coroner as suicide, the young cattleman, altho sent to prison as part of an enemy's frame-up, swears to expose the plot of a scheming rival rancher. When he is finally paroled, he desperately seeks the evidence to prove his father was murdered by the very rancher who sent him to prison, and his success in this mission leads to the story's action-packed climax.

Kay Sutton, as O'Brien's leading lady heads a cast of popular players in this picture directed by David Howard.

OHIO

Bringing to California's pioneer mother lode country a faithful reproduction of the towns that the Forty Niners left behind them in Maryland and Virginia, a motion picture company of 140, headed by Robert Taylor, Florence Rice and Director W. S. Van Dyke II entrained from Glendale, California, for location work at Butte Meadows, on the west side of the Sierras.

They were preceded two days previously by Wallace Beery, co-star of the picture, who piloted his own plane to the Chico airport, Chico being the headquarters for the "Stand Up and Fight" troupe.

The Sierras doubled for the Allegheny in the adaptation of Forbes Parkhill's novel of the rivalry between the early railroad and stage coach lines, with Butte Meadows the site of the reconstructed town of Frostburg. The film is at the Ohio theatre.

In addition to Beery, Taylor and Miss Rice, a group of forty-six actors were included in the location company. Dick Rosson headed a second unit filming simultaneously with Van Dyke's. The remainder of the crew was divided as follows: Van Dyke's secretary, unit manager Frank Messenger, two script clerks, three assistant directors, thirteen motion picture and still cameramen, four prop men, nine grips, six electricians, seven sound men, four hair dressers, seven make-up men and women, five wardrobe women, a doctor, two maids, three drivers, three construction men, two painters, two plasterers, three set dressers, an art director, a horse trainer and two accountants.

The Great Seal of the United States was proposed and designed by William Barton in 1782. It is composed of a spread eagle, symbolizing strength, bearing an escutcheon with 13 stripes for the 13 original states.
