

Jack Haley Due For Haywire Evening On Friday Program

"Lucky" Will Be Heard On Warden Lawes Spot; Helen Hayes Takes Role In Presentation Of Anomwitt

Jack "Wonder Boy" Haley will return to a quiet radio factory to the time he's finished with the month-long run on the show Friday over WABC at 7:30 p. m. A gamut of classic experiences is being concocted for Haley by his conspiring cohorts—including Lucille Ball, Virginia Merrill, Artie Amersbach, and Ted Fio-Rino and his orchestra. These will start peeping into Jack, his new house commended that Artie Amersbach, disguised in a deep dialect, will rumormongered that Artie Amersbach, disguised in a deep dialect, will pop up as proprietor of the agency. What will happen entirely problematical, but chances are, Jack won't like any help—much as Artie Amersbach him-him!

Continuing the mad night-rite, Jack will return to his new home, only to find that a "Lucky" snowball game has been set up. Complications too numerous to mention will ensue.

Warden Levi E. Lawes on the Criminal Case Historic program, heard every Friday night at 8:00 p. m. over WJZ, has presented many case histories proving his point: that crime does not pay. However, Friday, Warden Lawes presents the story of a criminal nicknamed "Lucky" because the fates seemed to be always with him. "Lucky" says: "I'm Case Number 227-550. They call me 'Lucky'... and boy, am I! I just finished two years in prison and today I'm getting out. It was worth it, too... I'm the one guy who can prove that crime does pay! My pals stuck to me... my wife stuck to me... and I stuck to my bankroll. I'm cash-in' in and headin' for the beach, boys... all over the world. I'm out to live... and live like a king from now on!"

Helen Hayes was accorded an honor seldom bestowed on an actress when she was permitted to select the vehicle in which she will appear on Friday, over WABC at 9 p. m. when she is presented in the radio play "Anomwitt" by Orson Welles and the Playhouse.

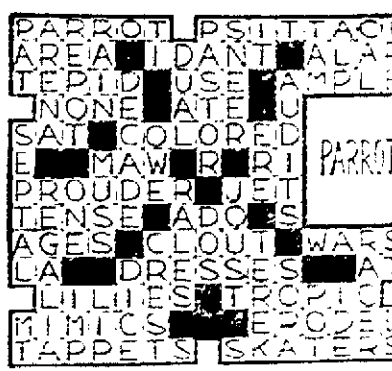

Co-starring together with Orson Welles, Miss Hayes selected Sinclair Lewis' "Arrowsmith," a story which created a furor in medical circles when it was first published. Welles will take the part of "Dr. Arrowsmith." Miss Hayes will take the role of Arrowsmith's wife on the Playhouse broadcast. This is the same role she played in the motion picture version of the

A blow-by-blow account of the fifteen round fight for the light-heavy-weight championship in New York's Madison Square Garden between Tiger Jack Fox and Melio Bettino, Friday, will be broadcast over WJZ from 10:00 p. m. until the finish.

NBC ace sports announcers Bill Stern and Sam Taub will be at the Garden ringside to bring listeners from coast to coast a complete account of the championship battle between the two top-ranking fighters in the light-heavyweight group.

The last time that Tiger Fox was defeated was in 1937. Bettino's record is just about as good.

The March of Time, pioneer radio news dramatization program, will begin its ninth consecutive year on the air Friday, when it returns to WJZ after a two month's vacation.

In the eight years since The March of Time was first presented by the editors of "Time" as a newly invented technique of radio news reporting, more than 2,500 news stories have been dramatized.

A significant disclosure of a survey of the program's history, just completed, is that prior to 1938 only one news story, the inauguration of President Roosevelt in 1932, was regarded as important enough to be the single subject of an entire half-hour dramatization.

The story behind "the post-fund" established in 1937 by a co-conscience-stricken outcast of the West, will be told by the Old Ranger during the Death Valley Days program Friday at 9:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Single contributions to the fund, frequently in excess of $1,000, helped finance charitable institutions in the surrounding area for many years.

Tribute to William Allen White, editor of the Emporia, Kan., Gazette, will be paid via the radio drama on his 71st birthday, Feb. 10.

It will come in the first nighter program on WABC thru presentation of an original play titled "small town editor." Barbara Luddy and Les Tremayne, regular leads in the first nighter series, will take the parts of secretary to the editor and young reporter, respectively.

Members of the cabinet and others will join in a series of programs opening WJZ Sunday evening at 7 in explanation of the government's participation in the New York world's fair. The program continue thru April 23, with Secretary Wallace as opening speaker.

Mrs. Grace Keefe, wife of a Chicago city employe and mother of nine children, in America's recent meeting has been postponed until next week. She is the winner of an essay contest.

Col. Francis C. Harrington, WPA administrator, has been scheduled for a 15-minute talk on WJZ Saturday night. His topic: "The New WPA Administration."

Colonel F. C. Harrington, Federal WPA administrator, will broadcast a message regarding the Works Progress Administration over a coast-to-coast NBC network at 8 p. m. Saturday. This will be the administrator's first appearance before a microphone since his appointment. The broadcast will be carried by the Toledo NBC station, WSPD.

Disabled Tugboat And Runaway Scow Safe In Lake Michigan Storm

FRANKFORT, Mich., Feb. 3.—(UP)—Coast guardsmen rescued 11 crew members of a disabled tugboat and a runaway scow on Lake Michigan last night after a heavy snow storm and gale.

The cutter Anticam was pushing the disabled tugboat, today toward Manitowish, Wis., with the tug in tow. Aboard were nine of the crew members. The others, Leo Patten and Charles Christiansen, were rescued three miles south of Frankfort after the scow had carried them onto an ice-covered breakwater.

The tugboat, the Peter Reiss, ran into a storm Wednesday night while towing the scow from Manitowish to Ludington, Mich. The two lines of the scow snapped and foiled the tug's propeller. Twenty-five foot waves and a 40-mile an hour gale added to the danger.

The winds carried the crafts apart, however, and they drifted northeast the night and all day yesterday.

The tug and scow had drifted approximately 10 miles apart off the Michigan shore when they were found.

Except for a fractured ankle suffered by Christiansen, all of the crew members were reported in good condition.

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 3.—(UP)—The steam freighter Cohasset, bound from Norfolk, Va., to Camden, with a 1,000 tons of coal, sank in the Delaware river last night after she was rammed amid-ship by the United Fruit Liner San Bedon in a fog.

CHATAM, Mass., Feb. 3.—(UP)—A seaman drowned and the captain and seven others were rescued by Coast Guardsmen early today when the 135-foot British motorship Lutzen grounded on Orleans beach in dense fog.
