Fred Allen Going High-Hat On Town Hall Tonight Hour

Pagliacci Will Be Portrayed By Nasal-Voiced Comedian; Heavyweight Patsy Perroni Up For Interview

Like the clown who yearned for the role of Hamlet, Fred Allen will turn to high art and take the part of Pagliacci Fortissimo, an opera singer, in his broadcast of Town Hall Tonight Wednesday at 9 p. m. over WEAF.

Trying not to lapse into his nasal-voiced "A," Fred will run thru a roundelay and an aria or two before he is confronted with the untimely murder of a fellow singer. Harry von Zell will wear the flowing robes of the unfortunate basso. The Mighty Allen Art Players will assist in the opus which is titled "Murder at the Opera" or "Swinging Along With Caruso.'

As the twin feature of the program, Fred will demonstrate his aptitude for either the diamond horseshoe or squared circle by interviewing one Patsy Perroni. heavyweight prizefighter, as his "Person You Didn't Expect To Meet." Perroni holds the distinction of lasting 10 rounds with Joe Louis, and should be able to offer Allen invaluable pointers for his impending encounter with Jack Benny, the Waukegan Wild-

BUSINESS PLACE, TWO RESIDENCES ENTERED

One business establishment and two residences were entered by thieves Tuesday evening, according to a police report.

Employes o the G. E. Bursley Co., 215 S. Central-av, said their establishment was entered by forcing a rear door. Nothing was reported missing. Thieves entered the home of Thomas Pseekos, 412 S. McDonelst by cutting the screen on the rear porch and took bread and apples from the porch. Theft of her ironing board and two flannel shirts from her back porch was reported by Mrs. Otto Heil, 470 N. West-st.
