Many Beasts Pose As Leo For Goldwyn Evolution Of Insignia Proves Interesting. Close Study Reveals

HOLLYWOOD, March 11—Every motion picture released by a major company bears a trademark. However, these trademarks—although they are registered in Washington—do not register very strongly with the patrons, and it is one of the secret sorrows of the flicker factories that star names rank far ahead of company names.

Leo the Lion is best remembered of all because it is an animal trademark with sound. More than 20 years ago when Samuel Goldfish resigned as chairman of the Paramount group of directors and organized Goldwyn Pictures Corp. he was a non-fascinator of trademarks. A young advertising man pasted a Columbia picture on the wall of his office.

It was adopted and it survived. Success came to the new company. The picture was a success. The lion was a success. The lion was a success. The lion was a success.

Haunted House Mystery Is Solved By Parker, Friends Charlie McCarthy's Guest To Be Helen Hayes, Distinguished American Actress; Lovelorn Writer To Be Interviewed

Mystery of the famous "ghost house" of Jonesport that has been vacant for 20 years is solved by Seth Parker and his neighbors in their regular Sunday broadcast at 7:30 p. m. over WJZ.

Seth and his friends hold their regular Sunday "gathering" in the ghost house and discover the weird noise that has disturbed the town for years is caused by the wind blowing thru a piece of screen that has dropped into the chimney.

Grandma Hodgkins who lives with her relatives because she cannot rent or sell the haunted house, her only possession, now that the mystery is solved, rents to the new-lyweds of Jonesport—Jane and John.

Helen Hayes, distinguished American actress, will make her first appearance on the Charlie McCarthy hour Sunday. She will be heard with Don Ameche in the dramatic feature of the broadcast over WEAJ at 8 p. m.

Derothy Lamour, Donald Dickson and Robert Armstrong's orchestra are other features of the show.

Jack Benny will play "Boswell" to Doc Wilson's "Jonson" when he presents a dramatic chronicle of the announcer's 16th year career in radio during the broadcast with Mary Livingstone, Kenny Baker, Phil Harris' orchestra and Rochester over WEAJ Sunday at 7 p. m.

Benny claims that he can prove not only that Wilson made his kilocycle debut as a quartet singer, but also that the corpulent announcer was the quartet. He has even unearthed facts which indicate that Wilson might still be doing his multiple warbling over the Denver station if the local musician's union hadn't stepped in and ordered Don to incorporate or pay three stand-bys.

Shirley Ross, who made her screen debut five years ago as a bit player in a picture starring Lee Tracy, will share the spotlight with him once again—this time as his co-star—during the "Silver Theatre" broadcast over WJZ Sunday at 6 p. m.

After learning of Miss Ross' start as a supporting player in Tracy's picture, "Clear All Wires" producer Conrad Nagel arranged to present the pair as a romantic team. Tracy and Miss Ross will headline an original drama written especially for them by Grover Jones and True Boardman with original music scored and conducted by Felix Mills, Silver Theatre's musical director.

Organized in California several years ago, the orchestra centered around Horace as the piano player. The orchestra followed the long route to national recognition first at University of California campus affairs, later in theatres, and then after a European tour, on the air. Led by Carole Lombard, women will have their day in a world hereafter governed by men, during "Screen Guild Show" over WABC Sunday at 7:30 p. m., when the blonde glamour girl portrays the first feminine designer of men's suits in "Tailored By Toni."

Hollywood's only woman director, Dorothy Arzner, will direct the comedy drama, an original by Connie Lee, only feminine writer of western films. Spring Byington, Edward Everett Horton and James Stewart complete the cast.

Miss Cowl, whose dramatic career almost ended abruptly when she was mustered out of dramatic school for "lack of talent," has vivid memories of Duane's first published novel. One day Miss Cowl was rehearsing the last scene of the play where Camille lies dying in Armand's arms, calling his name pitifully. On her way out of the theatre, she stopped to ask if Polly wanted a cracker. Eyeing her strangely, her pet parrot sobbed, "Armand, Armand, Armand."
