Salute To New York And San Francisco Events To Be In Comic Vein; Girls Plan Irish Songs Program

A salute to both the New York and San Francisco World's Fairs — in comedy vein — will be offered by Al Pearce and his Gang during their program on WEAF Monday at 8 to 8:30 n. m.

The double salute is prompted by the Gang's divided loyalty to both New York and California, After all, they divide their time between the two places, and furthermore they are returning to California at the beginning of April, so they are taking no chances of being declared persona non grata with the California Chambers of Commerce!

Jan Peerce, well known tenor, returns for his third guest appearance in the current series. Carl Hoff and his orchestra will present "This Is It" from "Stars in Your Eyes" as the feature of their portion of the program.

Favorite Irish songs and melodies of six Irish members of Phil Spitalney's all-girl singing orchestra will be presented by the orchestra in the Hour of Charm over WEAF Monday at 9:00 p. m., as a salute to St. Patrick's Day.

The selections and the girls responsible for them are: "Shennanigans," "Pat" Harrington, first "Dear Little trumpet player; "Dear Little Shamrock," Julia Drum, flautist; "The Wearing of the Green," Fern Griggs, vocalist: "Where the River Shannon Flows," Dez Thompson, drummer; "When Irish Eyes Are Marion Williams, first saxophonist; and "Sweet Mavoureen," Alma Adams, tuba player.

Charlie McCarthy, Edgar Bergen and W. C. Fields hit a new high in the field of comedy in their latest picture, "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man" which is now showing at the Sigma theatre. The plot is centered around ircus life where Bergen and his pai McCarthy are working for

A human, down-to earth story of everyday young married couples is portrayed in the Ohio's film, "Made for Each Other" which costars Carole Lombard and James Stewart.

Said to be one of the most deightful comedies of the year, Wife, Husand and Friend" the current Quilna picture, stars Warner Baxter, Loretta Young, Binnie Barnes and Cesar Romero. l'heatregoers who remember "Wife, Doctor and Nurse" which also starred Baxter and Miss Young have some idea of the gay romantic fun in store.

A champion fighter on the night of his victory is made the victim of circumstances which result in is being accused of murder. Thinking of no way of defending himself he leads a life of dread, being hounded by the law. "They Made Me a Criminal" is the title of this picture and it stars John Garfield, the Dead End Kids, May Robson and Gloria Dickson. This picture and "Burn Up O'Connor" starring Dennis O'Keefe are the wo features now at the State.

QUILNA

If variety is the spice of life, Hollywood is a well-seasoned corner of the globe.

For nowhere in the world do things move so fast, or are so many changes wrought by the passing of a few years' time. A particularly apt example of how times change in Hollywood is offered by "Wife, Husband and Friend," the gay comedy romance, Mr. Bellamy, as the sympathetic starring Loretta Young and Warner Baxter at the Quilna theatre. For not only is the story, which Nunally Johnson based on a novel Hollywood's favorite stars and several of its most popular supporting players, cast in roles that are in sharp contrast to the sort
