Two Double-Talking Guests To Be Heard on Riggs Hour

Cliff Nazario And Jerry Colonna Scheduled For Saturday Night Program; Harvard Club Will Preview Show

Two double-talking guests will join the Tommy Riggs-Betty Lou combination on the program over WEAF Saturday at 8 p. m. They are Cliff Nazario, ballad singer and comedian, and Jerry Colonna, who burlesques grand opera on Bob Hope's NBC program.

This will be the fourth program originating in Hollywood. Freddie Rich's orchestra is on the program during its stay in the movie capital.

Boris Karloff, Frankenstein monster of the screen, was the inspiration for "The Ugliest Man in the World," premiere production of Arch Oboler's Plays, new series of original dramas of the fantastic and of the imagination to be produced by NBC.

The play will be broadcast over WEAF Saturday at 10 p. m. Two years ago Karloff and Oboler were drawn together in NBC's "Midnight Thrillers, "Lights Out," Karloff was starring in the spine-tingling productions and Oboler was then writing them. One day the two sat down at lunch and discussed the many distorted-faced characters Karloff had portrayed on the screen.

"That was the beginning of 'The Ugliest Man in the World,'" Oboler explained. "But don't misunderstand me. Boris himself is one of the handsomest men in the world in a virile way, but these ugly monster roles set me thinking. What would happen to the man who was so ugly that children would scream in fright when they saw him, who was such a shocking spectacle that even his mother's life became unbearably unhappy? How would such a man react to people and to love? What childhood would he have?"

A preview of the 93rd annual spring production of the Harvard Hasty Pudding club, in which gentlemen with bulging muscles and broad backs portray all roles from dainty bits of femininity to dyed-in-the-wool, mustachioed villains, will be heard over WJZ Saturday from 8 to 8:30 p. m.

Songs and sketches from the 1939 production, "Fair Enough," to be presented in full for the first time on Graduates' Night, March 27, and interviews with the authors and director of the show will be heard during the broadcast from the Hasty Pudding clubhouse in Cambridge, Mass., while the final dress rehearsal is under way.

The authors to be interviewed are Morgan Preston, Alan Lerner and David Landon. Edward C. Lilley, director of the show, will explain his part in the staging of the fast-moving comedy. Among the hit tunes to be played by Rakov and his NBC orchestra are "I Just Gotta Make Love," "From Me To You," and "I Dream of You."

George Jessel, m. c. of NBC's Jamboree, started his career with Gus Edwards in the latter's "School Days" revue. Eugene Conroy, NBC tenor, is one of the foremost collectors of records made by the late Enrico Caruso to whom critics have likened him. Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" may be the basis of a motion picture starring the entire cast. Marek Weber, conductor of the Carnation Contented orchestra, is adding to his newly learned English vocabulary in a way that is also fun. Maestro Peter Van Steeden of the Fred Allen and other NBC programs has his own private aquarium at his Westchester home and his band boys contribute to it. Dr. Frank Black, General Music Director of NBC, will be interviewed on a forthcoming "ABC of NBC" program. Rupert LaBelle gets younger instead of older in his roles. As a 12 year old boy, he made his stage debut in "The Sign of the Cross."

SWEEPS PROFIT OF $50,000

A sweepstakes winner nearly every time—that's Sidney (Duggy) Freeman (above), the Englishman who is engaged in the not-so-risky-as-it-sounds business of buying sweepstakes tickets and shares in tickets from lucky persons who have drawn horses in the pay-off races. "Duggy" is shown in New York with some of his tickets. After the Grand National had been run, he estimated his profit on the race at about $50,000. He had bought about $700,000 worth of tickets.
