Three Great Stars Booked For Crosby Show Thursday

Chester Morris, Alice Marble, Rudolf Ganz Will Display Talents, Swap Quips With Bing

Bing Crosby has invited Chester Morris, of the movies; Alice Marble, tennis star; and Rudoff Ganz, concert planist, to be his special guests. Thursday, Regulars besides the ever-present Bing, are Dob Burns, the Music Maids, and John Scott Trotter's orchestra.

"Mysterious Morris," as Chester is called around the hall, lays claim to the dubious title of "radio's only magician." In his last appearance on the hour he made Big disappear from the airwaves for a period of several minutes which gave Robin Burns, bazooka virtuoso, complete freedom of speech.

Recently turning from the tennis courts to a singing career in a New York night spot, Alice Marble has promised Bing to warble a ditty or two during the hour that's broadcast over WEAF at 10 p. m. Rudolf Ganz, veteran master of the piano keyboard, returns to K. M. H. to play a couple of numbers and chat with his old friend Bing.

Merle Oberon in scenes from the picturization of Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights"; Kate Smith and her songs, with supporting music and melody by Jack Miller's band and Ted Straeter's choir, and mirth by the "Aldrich Family" and Abbott and Costello are reasons for tuning the "Kate Smith Hour" over WABC Thursday, at 8:00 p. m.

Miss Oberon, who completed "Wuthering Heights" last week, is flying east to preview the picture, a classic tale of the wild Yorkshire moors, on the Kate Smith Hour. The dialogue by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, which promises to bring Miss Oberon new laurels for her work as "Cathy", will be preserved intact in the radio adaptation.

Kate will follow her custom of introducing a new song to the airwaves, and will also sing her popular "memory" song. The Ted Straeter group is scheduled to swing "Joobalai" and "Hold Tight." The "Aldrich Family" will have its laugh locale in Chicago, while Mopeyville remains the center of Abbott and Costello's gag making
