

Movie Making in Reverse Is Sam Goldwyn Stunt

All Is Well That Ends In Hit Is Motto

Heifetz Fiddles $50,000 Worth Of Tunes And Then Writers Start

HOLLYWOOD, April 8 (AP)—Movie-making sometimes gets a little complicated, but all's well that ends well—and Sam Goldwyn has the highest hopes for the success of a motion picture he's making in reverse.

Goldwyn announced nearly a year ago that he was going to make a movie entitled "The Exiles," starring the famous violinist, Jascha Heifetz, and telling the story of a Jewish musician exiled from Nazi Germany.

A week later Goldwyn announced he would not make "The Exiles." He decided that international politics had no place in the pictures. But he still had Heifetz under contract.

Since Heifetz's fiddling, you can imagine what kind of a contract it was. Heifetz, meantime, said he was no actor. All he could do was play the violin. So Goldwyn hired a symphony orchestra, put his violinist in a dress suit, and had him play some $50,000 worth.

All this was recorded on sound track and film, until there were four standard movie reels of closeups and long shots of Heifetz and the orchestra playing eight tunes, ranging from the classical to the semi-popular.

Heifetz collected his money and left Hollywood, shaking his head. Goldwyn, who had $50,000 worth of recorded music in the can, let it be known that what he needed was a story to fit. Some of the movie's best writers tried their hand.

Goldwyn was about to give up, when he received a script by Miss Irmgard von Cube. Her story was about a music school, which was about to fold—thereby returning its pupils to the slums. But by a series of happy events the great Heifetz played at the annual concert. That brought on the sale of so many tickets and caused so much publicity that the school was returned to its financial feet and everybody was happy, including the creditors.

So the experts went to work to build a movie around the already shot scenes of the great musician, using contract players to fill in the needed drama in the film now underway.

Cassidy Film Is Feature On Lyric's Bill

Frontier days returned to town again last night with the opening of the "Hopalong Cassidy" outdoor action drama, "The Frontiersmen," at the Lyric theatre.

William Boyd, in the role of the popular range hero, holds the reins in a gallant story of the effects of cattlemen to make the Old West a fit place for their youngsters to grow up in.

Based on a yarn by Clarence E. Mulford, whose stories have the smell of worn leather and the tone of pounding hoofs about them, "The Frontiersmen" is well up in the high standard of previous "Hopalong Cassidy's." It combines the excitement of frontier war with the high-spirited romance which only the prairies and deserts of the West can know.

Dynamite hurled from the skies to spread flaming fury on earth! A millionaire's pampered pet learns the low-down on law and love from the toughest cop on the job. "Highway Patrol" swings into two-fisted action to fight the terror besetting a great individual empire!

As the intrepid officer in "Highway Patrol," showing at the Lyric theatre, Robert Paize faces sinister undercover slayers who menace the lives of thousands! Getting a leave of absence from regular duties Paize struggles to save a gigantic oil refinery and the girl he loves from a murderous combine bent on destroying both!

50 SEEK JOB
MINSTER, April 8—With the deadline for filling applications passed, 50 are in the field for the job of rural mail carrier out of the postoffice at nearby New Bremen. A civil service examination for the position will be held April 15.

All Entertainment Fields Supply Guild Show Talent

Joan Bennett, Rosemary Lane, Mickey Rooney, Rudy Vallee And George Murphy On At 7:30 P. M. Sunday

The stage, screen, radio, night club and concert worlds have contributed their favorites for a sparkling revue, which will star Joan Bennett, Rosemary Lane, Mickey Rooney, Rudy Vallee, George Murphy and Oscar Bradley's orchestra on the "Screen Guild Show," over WABC Easter Sunday, at 7:30 p. m. Each of the celebrities was famous in one of the above realms of entertainment before he answered the call of Hollywood.

America's best loved "bad boy," Mickey Rooney, will have a field day in the revue, as he will act, sing, lead the orchestra, play a classical selection on the piano, direct a comedy skit and swing on the drums.

The Easter Parades on Fifth Avenue, New York City, and on the Champs Elysees, Paris, France—style streets of the world—will be described in a special broadcast over WEAF Sunday, at 12:00 noon.

A group of fashion experts in an automobile cruising down Fifth Avenue will compare fashion trends with a similar group strolling along the Champs Elysees. An intricate two-way hookup permits both groups to converse.

Glenda Farrell and Chester Morris will be starred in "The Man From Medicine Hat," and original comedy by Paul Franklin, on "Silver Theater" in its broadcast over WJZ Sunday, at 6:00 p. m. The story of a cowboy's introduction to Manhattan Society, "The Man From Medicine Hat" was adapted for radio by True Boardman and will be produced for "Silver Theater" by Conrad Nagel, with original music scored and conducted by Felix Mills.

Morris, star of several of Franklin's Screenplays, selected the author's new radio play for his return engagement on "Silver Theater." His current role will be in sharp contrast to that which he portrayed in "Skyseraper," the stirring drama of men and steel which highlighted the 1937 "Silver Theater" series. Glenda Farrell, heroine of the Torchy Blane film series, will be making her "Silver Theater" debut.

Charlie McCarthy has done so much talking about his new girl friend, Priscilla Kamm-backe, without producing her that Edgar Bergen and others in the program cast have expressed their doubts that she actually exists. Charlie has promised to produce her at the microphone on the WEAF program Sunday at 8:00 p. m.

If the wooden Casanova keeps his word, there are likely to be some complications. For one thing, the beautiful Claudette Colbert, whom Charlie has professed to admire greatly on the occasions of past visits to the program, will be there again as a guest. For another thing, Dorothy Lamour will return to the program.

Ogden Nash, comic rhymester, will be another guest, and will be heard in a sample of the verse that has made him famous. Donald Dickson will sing with Robert Ambrose's orchestra.

A musical ear is a better possession for a musician than is any investment banker—that's why Johnny Green violated parental will and became an orchestra leader. Green and his melody makers will reveal a part of that history during their ride on the bandwagon Sunday, at 7:30 p. m. over WEAF.

Charles G. and Kathleen Norris, famous husband-and-wife team of novelists, will be guests of The Circle in its WEAF broadcast Sunday, at 10:00 p. m. On the same program the lovely Madeleine Carroll, heard twice previously as a guest, will become one of the club's regulars. Lawrence Tibbett, Metropolitan Opera baritone star and one of The Circle's charter members, will be on the program again and will sing as well as take part in the club's business proceedings. Basil Rathbone, master of the revels; Groucho and Chico Marx, The Foursome and Robert Emmet Dolan's orchestra will complete the line-up.

Jack "Fashion Plate" Benny will preside at an Easter egg rolling contest for his gang during the broadcast with Mary Livingston, Kenny Baker, Don Wilson, and Phil Harris' orchestra, over WEAF Sunday, at 7:00 p. m.

Inmate at the thought of his treasured Stradivarius (?) hanging ignominiously in a pawn shop window, Jack also will try to figure out how to square accounts with Rochester.

A cast of four featured screen players will support Charles Royer in the Hollywood Playhouse production of Jerome K. Jerome's well known "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" over WJZ Sunday, at 9:00 p. m. The supporting cast includes Ann Shirley, Helen Wood, Esther Dale and Peter Willis.

The locale of the famous play is a Bloomsbury lodging house, and every character is an unpleasant one. The landlady herself takes every advantage of her boarders. That company includes a bibulous major who bullies his wife, a shark, a retired "bookie," and others of unattractive personality. There also is a slavey in this unhappy household.

The annual egg-rolling on the South grounds of the White House will be described over WEAF Monday, at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, is expected to follow the practice, established in previous NBC broadcasts of the event, of stepping to the microphone and extending Easter greetings to the nation.

The 100-year-old Easter Egg Rolling Contest on the White House lawn annually draws a huge crowd of children and grown-ups.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY LATHROP POWDER RIVER: LET 'ER BUCK.

The Powder river which flows north into Montana is known as the river that is "a mile wide and an inch deep." Many dramatic incidents make up the history of the Powder river country in Wyoming. Custer's massacre is a familiar story, but less familiar is the one of the slaughter of friendly Indians at Sand Creek by soldiers led by the fanatical Rev. Chivington; or the one of the march of the Cheyennes from Indian territory back to their beloved Wyoming in the dead of winter.

There are also many old yarns such as settlers tell around the camp fire.

DR. NORTON'S WIFE.

A novel, partly of love, partly of medicine, and in large measure a mingling of the two. Sue Norton is stricken with an obscure nerve disease which is undermining her beauty and health. Her husband seeks escape in the companionship of her younger sister. How the wife responds to the situation, how she faces the inevitability of her fate, and how love meets the cruel test, is Mrs. Walker's story. She has handled it with rare skill and has produced a clear cut sensitive novel far above the common run.

THE PADEREWSKI MEMOIRS.

This is the first volume of an authorized autobiography made up of material supplied by the pianist to Mary Norton in conversations with her. In it Paderewski tells of his early childhood when he began to play without any instruction and how he fought his way past a variety of teachers most of whom told him that he had no talent for the piano. He tells of the long, hard fight against many odds, of difficulties with instruments, and with managers, and of periods of terrific practice and study which would have ruined the health of the average person.

THE NOISE OF THEIR WINGS.

This is a fascinating biography that both the musical and the unmusical will enjoy.

MINSTER WOMAN ACTIVE DESPITE HER 99 YEARS.

MINSTER, April 8—Construction of the $300,000 program of sewerage improvements proposed here will be delayed at least until June 30, and possibly will never be carried out, it was seen today following receipt of notice of a new ruling by the state WPA headquarters at Columbus involving the local project.

"WRIGGLERS" REPORTED IN WATER AT BLUFFTON.

BLUFFTON, April 8—A request was made this week by Bluffton city officials that a state health engineer investigate the source of "wrigglers" which have been reported in Bluffton water supply outlets.

ASTRONOMER IS HEARD ST. MARYS.

ST. MARYS, April 8—Leslie Peltier, astronomer of Delphos, spoke to St. Paul's Men's assembly, telling the men of the heavenly bodies. He displayed maps of the sky in which he traced the movements of some of the stars and planets. Peltier gave some interesting facts concerning astronomical happenings.

THE SPANISH HOUSE.

Lady Eleanor Smith is able, more than any other writer today to capture the vivid color and drama in gypsy life. "The Spanish House" is frankly a romantic story with adventure and emotions. It is a well-constructed novel that seizes and holds the attention. It is the story of Paris Faa, a gypsy youth and Maya Darquet who love each other from the first moment of their meeting. They are separated and wander far from each other for years. They finally meet again and their romance is brought to a dramatic ending.

Three Answers Seek Lien On Company Fund

(Lima News Bureau)
WAIAKONETA, April 8—Three answers demanding a lien on company funds to the amount of $3,816.71 were filed today in Auglaize-co common pleas court in the case of the Minster Loan and Savings Co. against the Bank of America, San Bernardino, Calif., and other depositors.

The suit is an action to determine the legal status of the loan company as to whether it is a stock or mutual company and as to the legality of certificates of deposits issued.

The answers filed today bring the total to five of more than 1,200 expected to be filed. Louella McBride, Dayton, claims $1,809.40 and B. J. Wuebker, of near Minster, sets up a claim for $1,000. A. T. Hemmelgarn and J. J. Hemmelgarn, executors of the Henry Hemmelgarn estate, are asking for $1,007.31.

Answers were previously filed by Minnie Ashman, Sidney, for $67.91 and by Frank Ernest of near New Bremen for $2,266.93. The total amount of liens asked for to date is $4,137.23.

Present officials of the loan company deny that the suit is a step toward liquidation. The company now operates under restrictions and only makes collections and does not accept deposits. The loan company is also the plaintiff in a $500,000 damage suit against four former directors. The suit was heard in court here six months ago by Judge E. E. Everett, Lima, who returned a verdict absolving the defendants of any fault in losses suffered on Cleveland and Paulding-co real estate. The suit has been appealed to the third district court.

OTTAWA FARM WILL BE SCENE OF TEST

(Lima News Bureau)
OTTAWA, April 8—A cooperative corn performance test during the coming growing season will be conducted on the farm of Charles Stechschulte, two miles west of Ottawa along Route 224, County Agent Ralph Dush said today.

The test is to consist of hybrids and open-pollinated varieties that have been grown extensively in this territory. It will be conducted in such a way that accurate results can be secured and comparisons made between various hybrids as well as open pollinated varieties.
