Billy House To Argue With Betty Lou Saturday Night

Aunt Jemima Also Returns To Cast; National Barn Dance Arranges World's Fair Salute

Billy House, 300-pound comedian of the vaudeville stage, will have a workout Saturday at 8 p. m. when Tommy Kiggs' little Betty Lou engages him in conversation. Another voice to be heard in conversation with Betty Lou will be that of Aunt Jemima, played by Gee Gee James, who is back in the cast again since the program's return from Hollywood to Radio City.

Freddie Rich's orchestra will provide the music that includes the accompaniment for a song by Betty Lou. A salute to the opening of the New York World's Fair will be given by members of the National Barn Dance during the broadcast Saturday from 9 to 10 p. m. over WJZ.

The New York exposition, which opens April 30, will be contrasted with county fairs where farmers gather to exhibit their prize live stock. Joe Kelly will preside over the Barn Dance during the absence of Uncle Ezra who is on vacation. Musical contributions will be made by the Hoosier Hot Shots; the Vass Family, Henry Burr, Ann, Pat and Judy, vocal trio, and Glenn Welby and his orchestra.

While the radio program will continue to follow the general story of the familiar newspaper syndicated strip, each Dick Tracy dramatize a complete story in itself. Ned Weaver, dramatic star of stage and screen, will continue in the title role and will be supported by a cast of radio players.

An enviable reputation for interpreting the classics, currently enjoyed by the symphony orchestra of the Cleveland Academy of Music, will fall into disrepair Saturday when this musical organization composed of 45 doctors and internes succumbs to a program over WEAF from 10:30 to 11 p. m. The Hippocratic Heprats will give out for the NBC Cleveland studios.

Forsoaking the three B's—Bach, Beethoven and Brahms—the medical jittersbug will tackle the torrid tempus of such swingsters as Artie Shaw.

Jark Johnson and Wally Butterworth will act their microphones in the lobby of the Barclay-Plaza Hotel, New York City, for their NBC Vox Pop broadcast Saturday, from 9 to 9:30 p. m. over WEAF. Parks and Wally will invite persons assembled in the lobby to be interviewed. The opinions of several people selected at random by the NBC interviewers will be solicited on the "question of the week."

Because Arch Oboler considers her to be one of the most talented young actresses in radio, Betty Winkler, of the National Broadcasting Co.'s Chicago division, will make a special trip to New York to play the lead in Oboler's "The Last Man," which is to be heard over WEAF Saturday, at 10 p. m.

Oboler wrote "The Last Man" some months ago but refused to broadcast it until Miss Winkler could arrange to make the trip. Betty played a number of important roles when Oboler was writing the "Lights Out" series in Chicago and since then he has been highly enthusiastic about her talents.

Sport Parade

By Henry M'Emore

NEW YORK, April 29—(UP)—Stock the bars with mint juleps, plant a few drawing southern colonels on the lawn, and engage Governor Happy Chandler to decorate the winner and Jamaica's little race track could pass for Churchill Downs on Derby day today.

Because they're running the Wood Memorial again and the Wood, year in and year out, draws the closest thing to a derby field. Nine thoroughbreds will go in the 15-year-old stake today and six of them are eligible for the blugrass run in Louisville next Saturday.

Two of the six—Johnstown and El Chico—are the most heavily backed derby candidates in the winter book. Johnstown never has gone a mile and a quarter, either, but no one doubts that he can, not after watching him in the Woodhaven stake earlier in the week. He crossed the finish line after a mile and 70 yards with plenty of "oomph" to give the impression that he would have liked nothing better than to boil an another furlong or two.

El Chico, William Ziegler's hot-footed three-year-old, is the fellow on the spot today. Champion of the baby class last year, and undefeated in seven straight starts to win $84,000, El Chico still hasn't proved his class. The Wood, run at a mile and 70 yards, will mark the first time that El Chico has been asked to go further than (Copyright, 1939, By United Press)

Flood Of School Protests Heard On Retroactive Point Of Eligibility

COLUMBUS, G., April 29—(AP)—A flood of protests against the retroactive angle of new eligibility rules, voted recently for Ohio high school students entering at mid-year, led Commissioner H. R. Townsend to announce today that he would submit the matter to the state board of control in June.

The Class A schools, with 193 of the 229 voting, recently killed by a 169 to 23 vote a rule adopted Sept. 1, 1937, which would:

1. A pupil who enters high school for the first time at the beginning of the second semester, and who does not participate in any interscholastic athletics that term, may consider his eligibility as beginning with the next school year.

The board, in the referendum notice, said: "This rule has not worked out as expected. In several schools boys who should have graduated at mid-year have deliberately failed, or refused to graduate."

The board recommended that the rule be repealed, to become effective the beginning of the second semester of 1939-40, and the schools agreed by the 160 to 33 vote.

Since then protests have swamped the commissioner's office, many schools declaring they thought the rule would effect only students entering next mid-year or later. Townsend, however, interpreted the change as meaning that all mid-year students now in school would be hit by the rule, many of them having a semester of eligibility.

Several schools declared, Townsend said, that the retroactive phase would wreck their basketball teams next winter, since the boys in question could play the first half of the campaign, but would be ruled out in the latter portion when the tournaments were played.

Townsend said the board had no authority to change a rule voted by the schools, but that it could change the date of its effectiveness.

He said he planned to submit the protests to the board in June, at the annual session, and that it was possible the retroactive angle might be erased and the boys now in school allowed their full quota of play.
