The appeal has been approved by the central council of the Community Union. Since the camp mortgage comes under the heading of capital debt, it is not included in the welfare fund's annual appropriation to the Boy Scout council. Community Union funds are used for current operating expenses only.

Camp Tichora has been a summer home for boys from Madison and the Four Lakes council area each year during the 19 seasons it has operated. The Boy Scouts purchased the property in 1918, and the first camp was held the following summer. Five hundred Boy Scouts and cubs attended during the 1938 season.

"If we can climinate the mortgage, we will be able to develop permanent improvements and better the camp program," Kessler explained, "The council has been paying interest on the debt for the last 19 years, and since the camp is run on a non-profit basis, no funds have been left for other

High School Forensic Meet Listed Here

The state high school forensic program will offer final contests in extemporaneous speaking and reading, declamation, and oratory in Madison May 8-9. The year's registration of high schools for competitive forensics, 394, exceeded last year's by six, and closely approaches the 400mark set as a goal, according to Miss Almere Scott, secretary.

These are annual activities of the Wisconsin High School Forensic assn. and the University of Wisconsin extension department of debating and public discussion.

The number of participants at Madison will be more than twice that of former years, since this year all contestants in district events who rated "A" are eligible to compete in the state finals.

More than 100 will engage in the title events. They will be housed ciation's guests at the Memorial Union Wednesday, May 9, at a
