parents of these 29,000 children have invested some $160,000,000 in "bringing up costs."

The Wisconsin Education assn., reflecting upon this amount of money spent for physical necessities, feels that the citizens of the state should not stint on educational expenditures, says:

"A child rarely becomes a useful and productive member of society if he or she is not given the advantages of a basic education

Penny-pinching in reasonable educational expenditures for good teachers and modern equipment is 'penny wise, pound foolish' when one considers the millions invested in developing the body to maturity. The average parent with a private investment of some $5,500 in his child certainly has penditure by society to finish the job by giving that child the mental training which he needs to become an asset rather than a liability to the community."

Sound Call of Outdoors

Shady glens, waterfalls, beach es, rocky gorges, and lookout points that command views over miles of land and water are some of the features that take on a new appeal as another state park season is getting under way.

C. L. Harrington, superin-tendent of forests and parks, announced today that all state parks are now ready for summer visitors, with new facilities including shelter buildings at Wyalusing, Copper Falls, and Pattison State parks, together with improved ground and sanitary facilities. The parks are now in better shape to serve the visiting public than ever

The state park system includes 19 acres, a total of about 14,000 acres, which include many of the leading beauty spots over the state and offering a variety of scenic and recreational inducements. State park attractions are supplemented by developments in the state forests which also appeal to the thousands of visitors who $500. will take to the outdoors during the coming summer,

Many of the state parks provide new attractions this year for people who had been previous visitors. New trails have been provided that permit easier access to remote beauty spots seldom been Wisconsin's 35 fish hatcheries have begun the job of replacing the fish that hundreds of thousands of persons will take out of rage. the lakes and streams this summer, even before the fishing season opens, the conservation department said today. There are 668,-853,997 wall-eyed pike eggs in the hatcheries, and 13,888,000 muskie eggs, according to a department survey. A million trout fingerlings already have been moved from the hatcheries to suitable streams and about 10,000,0000 more will be released during this year.

State's Life Benefit Policies Total $1,835,542,000

A total of $1,835,542,000 ordinary life insurance was in force in Wisconsin at the end of 1938, an wisconsin at the end of 1938, an increase of approximately $25,—343,000 or 1.4 per cent over 1937, according to the estimated annual figures released today by the Life would vanish. When the president said in his offhand way that the New York fair is the last of the George Washington fiestas, the most startled man present was Congressman Sol Bloom, who has been honoring GW since his 200th birthday in

Now it is taken for granted that Bloom intends to go right on cele-brating the 200th anniversary of everything that ever happened to GW. until he finally observes the 200th anniversary of his death in

Then, in 2033, it will be time to begin the tricentennial.
