NEW YORK, June 17—(AP)—A fairly good brand of domestic news helped counteract continuance of Far Eastern war tension in today's stock market and leading issues rallied fractions to a point of no return.

Traders inclined to step carefully, but even among the favorites, and the two-hour volume of approximately 200,000 shares was one of the smallest of the year to date.

Most departments participated in the forward job, also industrials and rails were principally favored.

Hopes that tax revision, which goes before the house next week, would be given a swift ride through congress, did much to buoy sentiment.

Reports the administration was getting ready to launch a vast lending-spending program, centered mainly on self-liquidating works, proved an addition to bullish ammunition.

Climbing freight loadings and operating revenues drew attention to the carriers. Motors were sustained by pleasing production statistics.

Selective recoveries were observed in the bond division. Wheat market futures steadied.

The financial district saw a constructive omen in the figures of the federal reserve board disclosing the country's department store sales for the week ended June 10 topped the comparable period a year ago by 10 per cent.

Best showings were made by the districts of Chicago, Atlanta, Cleveland, St. Louis, Philadelphia, New York, Kansas City, Minneapolis and San Francisco.

BULLET-MARKED CAR HUNTED BY LIMA OFFICERS

Police Saturday were still searching for a bullet-marked sedan which early Friday in downtown streets outdistanced a slower police cruiser in command of Officers Kermit Westday and M. E. Baker.

About 4 a. m. Friday, the officers pulled alongside the auto in W. Market-st to question its driver, but he sped away and escaped under the fire of Westday's bullets.

Friday afternoon police officers and firemen dragged a quarry in south Lima in the hope of finding the vehicle. After several hours of search police were of the opinion the machine was not driven in the quarry.

Phil Baker Will Dedicate Program To Nation's Dads

Comedian Has Been Walking To Work To Save Nickels So He Can Pay For Phone Call To His Pater

Phil Baker, who now has his own quartet of off-spring chirping "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," will honor himself by dedicating his program to Father's Day during the "Honolulu Bound" broadcast over WABC Saturday, 8 p. m.

Just to show his own filial loyalty, the accordionist-comedian has been saving nickels for a week, by walking to work instead of using the subway, so that he can telephone his own father. Bottle will stand by to prevent Phil from reversing the charges.

Altho he insists it has nothing to do with the theory of evolution, the comedian will take to the trees as "Tarzan" in his own version of the motion picture of the same name.

As he swings from bough to bough thru the forests on Broadway, the Andrews Sisters will swing from note to note with their interpretation of "The Lady's In Love." Perched on top of the microphone, Baker will offer as his accordion solo, "The Angels Sing."

Governor Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas and John G. Lonsdale, Jr., official "Goodwill Ambassador" of that state, will be interviewed by Parks Johnson and Wally Butlerworth at the NBC Vox Pop program Saturday.

The program will come from the RCA exhibit building at the New York World's Fair from 8:00 to 8:30 p. m. over WEAF. Both the governor and Lonsdale will be at the exposition for the observance of Arkansas Day at the World's Fair.

This broadcast will occur on the eve of Father's Day and Parks and Wally will announce the male parent selected as The American Father of 1939 from the thousands of nominations sent in by listeners in the new annual feature of the Vox Pop program.

The Vox Pop broadcast will include the customary unrehearsed interviews with visitors to the World's Fair.

Edmund O'Brien, who played the tempestuous Prince Hal in Maurice Evans' Broadway production of "Henry IV" last season, and who had the part of the overbearing young aviator in Arch Oboler's "Crazytown" on May 20, will be starred in "The Immortal Gentleman," Oboler's 13th production, to be presented over WEAF Saturday, at 8:30 p. m.

The story was inspired by a line from Walt Whitman's "Reconciliation" and deals with a youth who is so obsessed with the idea of death that he has no time really to live. Projected by accident into a brave new world far in the future where medical science has made immortality a reality, the hero discovers the wonders, dangers and even horrors of such a condition.

The rural philosophy of Uncle Ezra will be mingled with the rustic comedy and music of other members of the cast when the National Barn Dance is broadcast from the Old Hayloft Saturday.

SUIT FOR OVERTIME PAY INVOLVES KNotty ISSUES IN FEDERAL LABOR LAW

CINCINNATI, June 17—(AP)—When and if the United Shoe Workers of America (U.S.W.) is to be paid for overtime pay is a question that will be decided by a federal court in Cincinnati today.

The suit, filed here yesterday, is based on a contention that the U.S.W. is entitled to overtime pay for work done during the maximum hours permitted by the wage-hours act, altho the union's contract called for shorter hours. Court officials described the action as the first of its kind under the act.

The union complaint, filed by Edward Lamb, prominent Ohio labor lawyer, and Lowell Goerlich, cited this paragraph of the wage-hours act:

"No provision of this act shall justify an employer in reducing a wage paid by him which is in excess of the applicable minimum under the act, or justify x x x in creating hours of employment x x x which are shorter than the maximum hours applicable under this act."

The contract called for an eight-hour day, with time and a half for overtime; overtime for more than 40 hours a week for 18 weeks of the season, and for more than 45 hours during an eight-week period.
