

Actress Romance For Her Film Career

Miss Hodges Will Devote Time To Art

Joy Breaks Engagements To Young Players So She Can Pursue Work

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (INS)—Lovely Joy Hodges, who has renounced two engagements in less than two years, has renounced all romance "for some time to come."

"I've had enough of that," said Joy, who was first betrothed to Robert Wilcox and then to Lee Bowman.

"I'm going to stick to my career," she added.

Joy, and Wilcox, who married Florence Rice in Honolulu a few weeks ago, had an on-again-off-again romance for a year while she was a sensation as a singing star in a New York show and he was busily engaged with Hollywood film-making, 3,000 miles away.

Finally they decided to call it off altogether, for, as Wilcox informed your reporter at the time: "When you fall in love in this show business you have two strikes on you already."

Later Wilcox wooed and won Miss Rice while Miss Hodges became engaged to Bowman, another top and coming young actor. After four months they agreed to disagree.

Joy, who's now playing in United's "Sandy Takes a Bow," joins the rapidly expanding movie colony in the San Fernando valley next week. She's quitting Beverly Hills with plans for raising vegetables in the future.

Joy has rented a house for a year.

"I intended to buy one, but my mother dissuaded me," the young beauty explained. "She asked me how I knew I was going to like it in the valley. So I've rented a place to make sure. Then I'm going to buy one. Lots of land for raising vegetables. That's my idea of real life."

Ricardo Cortez, once a leading man for Garbo and a star in his own right before he turned to directing, has been aiding cupid a bit.

There has been a succession of marriages on his pictures. While he was directing "Closing Drive" at 20th Century-Fox a few months back, the leading lady, Lynn Bari, eloped with Walter Kane, screen agent. Then Joan Woodbury and Henry Wilcox, appearing opposite each other for the first time, fell in love and were promptly married.

Cortez had no sooner started directing "Heaven With a Barbed Wire Fence" than Joan Rogers, the feminine leader, eloped with Agent Danny Winkler. Then two other players in the film, Margaret Carthew and Nick Copeland, went off and got married.

Now, Lydia Lane, hairdresser on the film and Conrad Gordon, an assistant director, are taking their vows.

Maybe it's just Cortez setting a good example. He's happily married to Christina Lee, who, incidentally, never has been in the movies.

CENTRAL HIGH BAND COURSE OPENS JULY 6

A summer band course, extending over eight weeks, will commence at Central high school July 6. The first four weeks of the course will be under the direction of D. H. Heitzman, of Driphos, and the last four weeks under Harold Clark of Central high school. Those eligible for the course, sponsored by the board of education, are all band members in the public schools of Lima.

The Senior band members will meet at 9 a. m. and the grade and junior high members at 10:30 a. m. on Tuesday and Thursdays.

A similar program is offered at South high school for the South school district.

24 EXAMINED AT CLINIC IN ADA

(Special To The Lima News) ADA, July 1.—Twenty-four first graders, were given physical examinations at the ADA preschool clinic at the ADA high school building immunization for diphtheria was given to 21 of the 24. Defects were noted and parents advised to make the necessary corrections. The local clinic was sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' association. Dr. J. F. Holtzmaier, county health commissioner, was assisted by Dr. F. M. Elliott and Dr. D. R. Prinitz. Dr. Holtzmaier will return in the early fall to re-examine the children.

Comedy Radio Serial Will Replace Benny For Summer

"The Aldrich Family," Takes Same Spot As Comic; Gale Page And Jim Ameche To Open New Series Sunday

"The Aldrich Family," starring Ezra Stone, a comedy serial of typical American family life, based on the Broadway success, "What a Life," will be presented weekly over WEAF from 6 to 6:30 p. m. beginning Sunday, as the summer replacement for the Jack Benny program. Written by Clifford Goldsmith, who also is author of the stage play, "The Aldrich Family" represents his first venture into radio playwriting. Ezra Stone will be supported by an all-star cast of stage and radio actors.

Gale Page and Jim Ameche, stars of the summer season of Hollywood Playhouse will open their series Sunday at 8 p. m. over WJZ with a presentation of "Manhattan Massacre."

Written by Forrest Barnes, the comedy drama will feature Miss Page as a romantically inclined maid, who becomes infatuated with a visiting movie star, played by Ameche. The maid's brief whirl in society—in borrowed finery—ends in a blaze of glory, but she is accused of stealing the clothes she appropriated in order to attract the attention of her hero, and the film star is forced to come to her rescue.

Hollywood Playhouse will present Miss Page and Ameche in a series of light comedies replacing Charles Boyer, who will be absent from the air for 13 weeks on his vacation.

Jackie Cooper and Alan Mowbray, the first one of the most youthful of film stars, and the latter, a veteran of stage and screen, will pay a visit to the Charlie McCarthy hour Sunday during the WEAF broadcast from 7 to 8 p. m. They will be received by Don Ameche and introduced to members of the regular cast.

Charlie McCarthy will appoint himself as a committee of one to welcome back his girl friend, Dorothy Lamour, after her brief sojourn in New York.

Donald Dickson, baritone, will sing "Strike Up the Band" and Schubert's "Almacht." Lighter selections by Ameche and Miss Lamour with accompanist by Robert Ambrosch's orchestra, will round out the musical portion of the program.

Convention troubles will be the subject of the weekly Grouch Club grape session, Sunday at 5:30 p. m. over WJAZ. Program dramatized by Paul Wang.

Tyrone Power And Annabella Flee Throngs

NEW YORK, July 1. (AP)—Tyrone Power and his bride, Annabella, sailed on their belated honeymoon today and the departure turned out to be a field day for autograph hunters and movie fans, with bruises, bumps, screams and scattered swooning tossed in free.

The police estimated there must have been 10,000 persons on the pier when the Italian liner Rex sailed at noon, and that at least 10 per cent of the crowd wanted nothing more than an autograph or two, a smile, a cheery greeting or just a glimpse of the couple.

So great was the crush that Power and his bride had to be smuggled on board. That is, the detectives thought that was what they were doing. They led the glamorous couple along the lower level, avoiding the throng on the upper level and with only about 100 or more men and women in pursuit raced from the ship, dodging here and there until they brought their charges to the temporary security of a cabin deep within the vessel.

Outside the shouting and yelling continued. On the pier several girls fainted. And those aboard waited hopefully to the last—in vain.

Lane officials said the Powers had reserved a veranda suite and would be transferred from their temporary quarters after the ship sailed.

Whalen will read a letter he wrote in the Westinghouse wireless room at the Fair and entered in the weekly "Letters Home" column. It is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. America inviting them to come to the Flushing exposition.

Also on the program, will be a group of three letter writers. Persons will award cash prizes to them and to the persons to whom they sent the letters. Because he is an executive of the Fair, Whalen will not receive a prize.

Book Reviews

By MARY LATHROP

DAYS OF OUR YEARS.

Pierre Van Paassen. Hillman-Curl, Inc. $3.50.

We hesitate to include another book by a newspaper correspondent since so many have been pouring off the presses of late. But this is the most eminently readable of them all excepting only those by Vincent Sheean.

Van Paassen was born in Holland with a stern Calvinistic background. He became a theological student, then a student in the World War, and for the last 14 years has served as a correspondent.

His autobiography may be read either as an account of spiritual experiences or as a record of recent political events. In his stories of events and personalities he preserves a moral standard and a certain spirituality that most books of reporting do not have. As sheer narrative it will hold the interest of anyone.

YOKE OF STARS. By Frances M. Frost, Farrar and Rinehart, $2.50.

A story that shows the successive steps in the character development of Judith York: as a child; schoolgirl; artist; divorced woman with children to support; the mature woman almost at the point of breakdown; the woman of 42 happy in a new love; and the completely fulfilled individual. Best of all in the novel is the development of Judith's relationships to her children. The prose is sensitive, the humor has a gay lift, and there are passages that are genuinely exquisite. Frances Frost is a poet, the author of "Pool in the Meadow."

CONSULTATION ROOM. By Frederic Morris Loomis. Alfred A. Knopf. $2.50.

We also said we were not going to review any more books of medical excursions into literary seas. But this one came along and it is much too good not to mention. This time the doctor is a gynecologist and obstetrician. It is a sincere and straightforward personal chronicle which touches on matters of deep importance in ordinary human life. And it gives some fresh information to emphasize the progress of modern surgery and medicine.

There is much humor in the book—some of the stories the doctor tells on himself are priceless. He takes a keen interest in the lives and problems of his patients. He has the kind of common sense and maturity you like your doctor to have.

LUCIEN. By Vivian Parsons. Dodd, Mead and Company. $2.50.

Do you remember reading, "Marcia Chapeleine?" The setting of this book about a French-Canadian girl will remind you of it. This is the story of a girl forced into an unhappy marriage and cherishing the memory of an earlier love. Like, "Wuthering Heights," it is a story which shows the impact of one character upon another, the surging of emotions which are ready to break to the surface at any moment in the tragedy. This is a first novel but Miss Parsons shows herself to be endowed with an easy, flexible prose style and an understanding of basic human emotion and the power to express them.

SECESSION TO BE DISCUSSED

Meeting Of Commissioners. Delphos Council Set For Monday

(Lima News Bureau) DELPHOS, July 1.—Van Wert and Allen-county commissioners have called a conference with Delphos city council and officials, and trustees of Washington and Marion-towns, for 2 p. m. Monday, when the matter of the proposed secession from the townships will be discussed in city hall.

In announcing the meeting, John B. Lehmkuile, president of city council, said it will be a public gathering and anyone interested is urged to attend. He said Delphos Civic club, the local Kiwanis club and other organizations will be represented.

The conference came in response to city council this week asking that the commissioners call the meeting as soon as possible as the legislators, as they see it at present, are desirous of cutting Delphos off as part of those two townships, thereby saving the payment of a township tax to the two townships.

It has been contended in past discussions by city council that in return for the tax, the city gains nothing and in the present state of its finances that would be one way of saving. Councilmen have been advised that in fairness to the townships that under state laws they can in no way assist the municipality financially.

It has been said on the other hand that the community is benefited by being part of the townships. Both Marion and Washington have township houses located in Delphos, and in the case of secession, those buildings must be lost to the city. There also are other ways that Delphos benefits it has been said at varying times during past discussions. The question of secession is not a new one but has been discussed several times by council and also by council and the trustees of each township.

While councilmen were not at all clear just what will be done under the new set-up, it was planned for City Solicitor Clarence Marsh to confer with the commissioners.

The resolution passed unanimously requested that county commissioners for the purpose of administering relief for the city, acting under the new laws which become effective July 1.

BIDS WILL BE OPENED JULY 19 ON NEW "Y"

(Lima News Bureau) FINDLAY, July 1.—Bids for construction of Findlay's new $125,000 Y. M. C. A. plant will be opened Wednesday and contract will be awarded July 19, officials in charge announced today.

Plans and specifications are available this week to general contractors, Eastman and Harman, Springfield, architects for the project, prepared the plans and specifications and they have been approved by the building committee of the association.

One of the architects or representatives will be in Findlay July 5, 11 and 14 to consult with contractors who may desire information regarding the project.

Actual construction is scheduled to be started by the end of the month. Completion is anticipated by the first of the year.

Work of tearing down the front part of the old building is nearly completed. Cleaning up of the debris in connection with the project still is going forward, and cleaning old brick is progressing rapidly, it was reported.

NATIONAL GUARD UNIT READY TO BEGIN TRAINING

(Special To The Lima News) ADA, July 1.—Ada's Company H, local machine gun unit of the National Guard, will leave Sunday morning for their two weeks' training period at Camp Perry near Port Clinton. An adjuant detail composed of mess Sergeant Joe Wertheimer, Corporal Wilbur Lee and First Cook Joe McElroy left Friday to have the kitchen in readiness for the first meal Sunday.

Justin McElroy, captain of the company, will be assisted by First Lieutenant Leslie Cribley, who just returned from Seattle, Wash. for the camp period and Walter Stemple, second lieutenant.

The climax of the encampment will be the Governor's Day, Sunday, July 9, when the brigade including the 148th Infantry, will be received by Governor John W. Bricker. The company will return to Ada on Sunday, July 16.
