Musical Shows Outshine Drama, Variety, Discussion on Air Today

Music, drama, variety, and discussion programs crowd today's airwaves. Musical broadcasts outshine other programs both in quality and number. A complete classified listing of today's outstanding dial-shows follows:

- 10 a. m.—Music Hall (WLW): Viola Rihito, soprano, and Henrietta Schumann, pianist, soloist.
- 12 m.—National High School Festival (WENR): Gus Fraser, Harrison, conductor of the Rochester Civic orchestra, guest conductor.
- 1 p. m.—Chautauqua Concert (WIBA, WMAQ): Ernest Hutcheson, pianist, soloist with the symphony orchestra.
- 6 p. m.—Summer Symphony (WENR): Ania Dorfmann, Russian pianist, guest soloist.
- 7 p. m.—Summer Concert (WBBM): Freddie Gibson sings "Blue Evening."
- 7:30 p. m.—Music Album (WIBA, WMAQ): an all-waltz program.
- 8 p. m.—Sunset Symphony (WIBA, WMAQ): a panorama of Hawaii in music and song.
- 10 p. m.—Music as Desired (WENR): four choral groups and the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra.

Don Voorhees, above, is regarded as one of the most versatile music directors in radio. Voorhees, who is at present conducting the Sunday night "Summer Hour" starring James Melton, has waved the baton for all types of shows from musical comedy to light classics.

Vilas Band Concerts Start Next Sunday

The Madison Park concert series is scheduled to begin Sunday, July 30, at Vilas park, according to Alexius Baas, director of the series. The 40-piece Federal Symphony orchestra will be heard for the following five successive Sundays at 3 p. m. The Sunday concerts by the Federal Symphony orchestra are sponsored by the Madison Park commission and the Work Projects Administration. Twenty members of the musicians' union augment the regular WPA orchestra to compose the park group.

Baas will release detailed information on the concert series later in the week. It is expected that the director will feature prominent musicians of the Madison area as guest soloists each week.

Prize-Winners in Second Bi-Weekly Contest

Eight Amateur Snapshooters Hit Journal's Contest Cash Register

Largest U. W. Clinic Ready

The University of Wisconsin music clinic will bring to Madison during the coming week four of the most important musical events of the year, including the largest orchestra ever brought under a single baton at this annual event.

More than 600 performers, the outstanding high school voices and musicians from nearly 200 schools, will occupy stage and music platforms in four successive performances.

Wednesday will see the opening of the parade of music, as operatic students present "The Chimes of Normandy" on the Parkway theatre stage. Three performances will be given at 3, 6 and 9 p. m. and will be offered as a supplement to the Parkway's regular motion picture offering, with no advance in prices.

Eighteen students will have principal roles of the opera, under the direction of Prof. W. H. Manning, nationally known opera coach of the Utah agricultural college.

At 8 p. m. Thursday the All-state chorus of 100 voices, under the direction of David Nyvall, director of music at Chicago Teachers college, will present its annual concert in Music Hall auditorium.

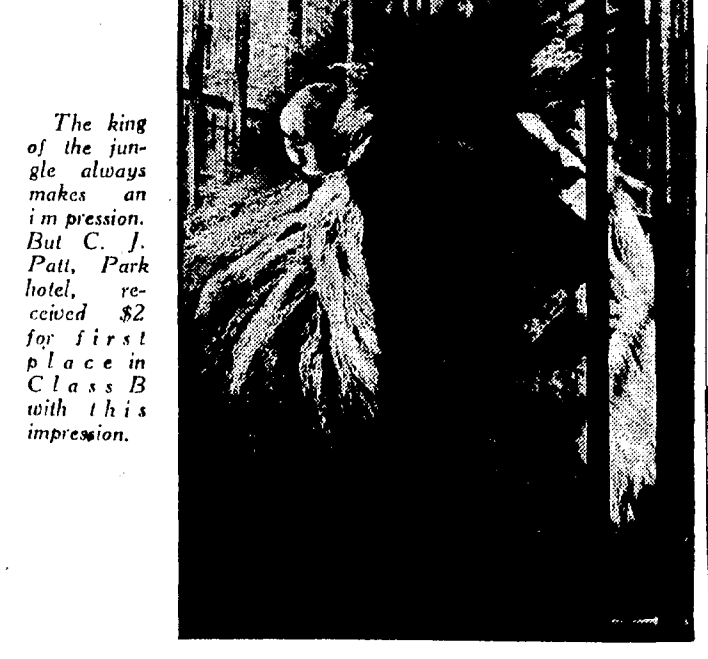

At 8 p. m. Friday in the stock pavilion the All-state orchestra of 115 pieces—largest ever organized by the music clinic—will present its concert. The orchestra will be under the baton of Prof. Henry Sopkin, director of orchestras at the Chicago Teachers college and violin instructor at the American conservatory.

The huge All-state band, composed of 375 of Wisconsin's finest high school musicians, will bring the music clinic's 1939 calendar to an official close at 7 p. m. Saturday at Camp Randall stadium with its annual concert.

This band, which Saturday played to a crowd of 100,000 persons at the huge Milwaukee midsummer festival, is under the direction of Prof. Gerald R. Prescott, director of bands at the University of Minnesota.

It might have been a bird in a near-by tree that caught the attention of John Wear, Jr., 332 Lakewood blvd., but it was the camera of Mrs. John Wear that "snapped" the scene up to put it on black and white. Mrs. Wear entered this print of her son to win Class A honors in The Wisconsin State Journal's second bi-weekly amateur snapshot contest.

The king of the jungle always makes an impression. But C. J. Patt, Park hotel, received $2 for first place in Class B with this impression.

Recent Additions

BLUE WATER VAGABOND Puleston

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A GERMAN REBEL Sender
As a young woman in Paris before the war, Frau Sender became a worker in the cause of Socialism. On the outbreak of war she was forced to return to her native land, Germany. She became one of the leaders in the Weimar republic, watched the rise of Hitler, and finally fled from Nazi Germany. She now lives in the U. S.

POLAND: KEY TO EUROPE Buell
A timely and authentic book that may well serve as a handbook to the coming crisis in eastern Europe. The author gives a political background of Poland with an interpretation and analysis of problems confronting the nation today.

COOPERATION AS A WAY TO PEACE Warshaw
Arguments in favor of the adoption of consumer and producer cooperatives as a means of economic peace.

IDENT AROUND THE PRESIDENT Alsoop
A study of the inner circle of Roosevelt advisers—the New Dealers—Corcoran, Cohen, Rosenman, Hopkins, and Ickes. The author shows how this group originated and grew out of the earlier Brain Trust, what manner of men compose it, their ambitions, qualifications and achievements.

A GATHERING OF BIRDS

An illustrated anthology of prose about birds selected from the writings of famous authors such as Hudson, Muir, Jeffries, Thoreau, and Audubon. For each author a brief sketch of the man and his specialty is supplied.

REVIEWED BY PAUL KNAPLUND

The disturbed state of Europe has focused attention upon the Scandinavian countries where reason still seems to prevail. Miss Rothery has for several years been interested in Scandinavia and has previously written books on Sweden, Finland and Denmark.

She finds much to admire in all of them and at time waxes quite lyrical in describing the scenery, the people, and the institutions of Norway. She writes for the intelligent tourist whose interests are not limited to scenery, food, drink, and lodging, but who wishes to know something about the people—their history, culture, and social conditions. This is a large order yet the author fills it remarkably well.

She has apparently read indiscriminately about Norway; she appreciates what that country has contributed in art, literature, exploration, and social legislation; and she is a skillful writer. The book contains several good illustrations and excellent pen pictures of people and landscapes.

Even Svalbard is included, and it is interesting to note the comparison between the conditions at the Norwegian coast and at the Russian coal mines in Spitzbergen. The much vaunted system of the Soviet does not come out so well. Among the other sketches that of Edward Grieg and his music deserves special mention.

The author's exuberance at times runs away with her—the conditions are not so idyllic as she seems to think—and she slips occasionally on dates and on facts from history, but these are faults of minor importance, and the book is recommended to all who are interested in Norway and especially to those who plan to visit that country.

Director Falls, Hurts Arm as Cymbal Crash Fails

When Maestro Raymond Paige conducts his "99 Men and a Girl" program, whether in rehearsal or during the show, he literally loses himself in the music and directs his men with much emotion and force.

By MARTIN WOLMAN Photo Contest Editor

Eight amateur snapshot "shooters" aimed right and hit The Wisconsin State Journal's cash register. Judges Saturday named the prize-winners in the second bi-weekly snapshot contest. They are:

Class A—Children and Babies—first, Mrs. John B. Wear, 332 Lakewood blvd.; second, Alpha B. Kayser, Maple Bluff.

Class B—Animals, Sports, Avocations—first, O. J. Patt, Park hotel; second, Fredrica Atwood Bisk, 41 Fuller dr.

Class C—Still Life, Nature—first, H. W. Pike, 210 Forest st.; second, Mae B. Chamberlin, 1811 Jefferson st.

Class D—Informal Portraits of Adults—first, Jimmy Toy, 25 W. Main st.; second, David A. Wilson, 2019 Monroe st.

Cash awards of $2 for first place winners and $1 for seconds will be presented. Money may be called for at the Journal's editorial office.

With the close of the second contest 14 amateur photographers of the Madison area are eligible to compete in The Wisconsin state Journal final awards which will be held at the close of the bi-weekly contests. The four final winners, one in each of the four classifications, will represent this paper in the $10,000 Newspapers National Awards which is held in November. Two Journal final awards winner last year received honorable mention prizes of $50 each in the national event.

The third bi-weekly snapshot contest opens today and will continue through Thursday, Aug. 3. Cash awards totaling $12 will be awarded eight snapshot photographers. Further details will be announced in Tuesday's paper.

Bringing together a new director and a former University theater star, "A Hundred Years Old," the last of the summer session stage productions, is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at Bascom theater.

The new director, Prof. Ronald E. Mitchell, is the young Wisconsin theater star who came to Wisconsin this summer from the University of Alberta in Canada to join the speech department here. He has picked for his first show a pleasant romantic comedy from the modern Spanish school, written by Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez Quintero.

Former University theater player, Dorothy Lyn, Madison, will be cast as Dona Marciala in the colorful Spanish household which the play depicts.

Family to many under the title of "Papa Juan," this play served as a starring vehicle for Otis Skinner on Broadway a number of seasons ago. The centenary who celebrates his birthday during the play will be played by Henry Kingbeil, around whom most of the action of the plot centers.

Other members of the large cast which go before the footlights include John Clark, Clayton Black, Willa Dunbar, Leonard Lee, Helen Schindler, Sylvia Gillin, Nellie McCallin, Gretchen Mueller, Robert Lewis, and Willard Scholz.

Edith Meiser Didn't 'Bother' to See Movie She Wrote

Edith Meiser, who writes "The Life and Love of Dr. Susan," is also the author of a movie—but she never saw the film. Signing the name "Xantippe," she authored a detective novel called "Death Catches Up With Mr. Kluck," which was sold to the movies under another name but Edith never bothered to see it.
