During the 17 years that he has been coaching football, Elton Ewart Wieman, Princeton mentor, has gained the reputation of being one of the game's best teachers.

Wieman entered coaching immediately following his graduation from the University of Michigan, where he displayed his versatility as a player by filling end, fullback, and tackle posts. He was line coach at Michigan from 1921 until 1926; head coach in 1927 and 1928 and assistant athletic director from 1923 to 1929.

In 1929 he was line coach at Vanderbilt. The following two years he was line coach at Minnesota during the regime of Herbert O. Crisler, moving on the Princeton with Crisler in 1932. He was appointed head coach at Princeton in the winter of 1933, succeeding Crisler.

Born at Orosi, Calif., in 1896, Wieman is a member of a football family which holds a place in Pacific coast sporting annals comparable to Princeton's Poes in the east. Four of Wieman's five brothers were rugby captains at Occidental college where the English game was played instead of American football. The fifth was forced, through injury, to abandon football after his freshman year at Michigan.

Wieman prepared for Michigan at Los Angeles high school where he played football and basketball and participated in track. He played left end on the Michigan freshman team, was moved to left tackle as a sophomore and full-back as a junior on the varsity. He was elected captain of the team for the 1918 season, but the World war intervened. He joined the air service in December, 1917, but was sent to France, spending the period on his enlistment on the Mexican border in Texas.

Following his discharge as a second lieutenant in February, 1919, he returned to Michigan, playing right tackle on the team in 1920. He was graduated by Michigan in 1921, winning election to the Phi Beta Kappa society. He was also awarded a conference medal, a trophy emblematic of proficiency in scholarship and sport.

He was secretary and treasurer of the American Football coaches assn. in 1929. He has written articles on football and collaborated with Crisler on a book devoted to the technique of the game.

Formerly engaged between football seasons in the insurance business in Ann Arbor, Wieman moved to Philadelphia a few years ago. He is married and has two children in their teens, Robert Allen and Helen Elizabeth.

As a line coach, Wieman was noted not only for his ability in turning out cohesive lines, but also was recognized as the developer of individual players, a number of whom have gained All-American team places. Among the players under his tutelage in the middle west were Ernie Vick, Jack Blott, Edliff Slaughter, Benjie Oosterbaan, and Clarence Munn.

Judge Helps Her Get Kissed

PITTSBURGH—(U.P.)—A "kissless wife" is going to be kissed every day by her husband now but she won't by kisses through a court order.

Mrs. John Christ Saturday had her husband brought before Police Judge Anthony Lucas on a charge of disorderly conduct because he allegedly had been drinking heavily and had abused her. Suddenly she blurted:

"I'm a kissless wife, judge. He hasn't kissed me in more than a year."

"There's only one remedy for that," Lucas declared. "Sixty days in the workhouse." When Christ looked downcast, Lucas added: "But there's one condition: If you will take the pledge to stop drinking, stop abusing your wife, and kiss her at least once a day, I will suspend the sentence."

Christ took the pledge and Lucas dismissed the disorderly conduct charge.

In this case, sheer poetry! Keep after 'em, Leon!

The Andalusian Aard-Vark who tells you late Tuesday he wants 10 tickets—but is willing to pay for them.

The Sicilian Civet Cat who, after reading that the game is a sellout, asks you to get him 10 box seats. (Why do they all want 10? Won't anyone settle for just eight?)

The Westphalian Weasel who ignored your warning that tickets would be scarce when you solicited his order last week, and then weighed in with an order for 12 yesterday—but they needn't all be on the 50-yard line.

The Bulgarian Bloodhound who, having been fixed up for 10 tickets himself through your good offices (though he puts you in the grease between favors), gets all his relatives' ticket business for you, too, after these dodges have been unable to get themselves a ticket even for parking.

The Venezuelan Viper who, having found you a soft touch on the first dozen tickets, comes back with a repeat order for 20 and crosses you off his list because you can't fill the second order.

WATERBURY, Conn. (U.P.)—It cost Deputy Sheriff Daniel O'Connor $60 for his mistake in attaching the wrong gun in a legal suit. The owner asked damages of $250 but the court awarded the $60 as adequate compensation for the inconvenience.

One of the encouraging sings of the times is the firm stand being taken by Commissioner Leon Rains of Philadelphia against fake fights and wrestling matches. Until the Rains came, Philadelphia was the happy hunting grounds for the con men of the two racket.

But, since Leon took over, he has let the fakers know that he's on the public's side, not theirs. This attitude is all too rare among boxing officials although Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey have commissioners who can hold up their heads in any company.

What I like about Commissioner Rains, besides his honesty, is his frankness. He calls a bleeding spade a blasted shovel.

Regarding the Pat Comiskey-Emil Schorsch fight in Philadelphia Nov. 27, in which Referee Joe McGuigan refused to count over Schorsch for three of the six "knock downs" he "suffered," Commissioner Rains said: "It stunk."

Inelegant phraseology, under most circumstances, but

Don Meade Had Better Stick to Riding Horses

By LAN PARKER
(Distributed by Kin Features)
NEW YORK—Now that Don Meade is riding again, he's going to stick to the horses. Under circumstances will he ride Eddie DeCamillis, Eddie was eating in a Washington restaurant when in strolled Donald, the Jockey Club's nomination for "Man of the Year" for 1939.

Meade is riding high now, but Eddie is on the ground, having been set down at Empire City last summer when his mount, Elwawa, was found to be bleeding from several tiny wounds in the neck, after winning a race at 7-1.

Meade, who is noted for his sharp tongue and just now is cockier than ever because of his success, went to work on Eddie, mentioning the Elwawa case and from there, branching out into Eddie's domestic affairs until Eddie's decision is to be handed down soon.

I think the fine service he has just performed for racing entitles him to another chance.

Frank Goodell, a Staten Island boy who has just finished his football career at Pittsburgh, was frank in his criticism of the coaching at Pitt, during a visit to his home. Goodell, best kicker on the team was allowed to start only one game, and saw little service. He says Dick Cassiano's poor season may be attributed to the fact that he usually had a blocking back who was little more than a stumbling block for Dick, causing the Albany flash to fumble repeatedly. Pitt's worst season since 1924 set one record, at least, in producing the best crop of beefs in the school's history.

Why is the Smoke Signal ringer case getting the hush treatment from the racing commission? I think the racing public is entitled to know what evidence, if any, the commission has uncovered relating to this and other ringer cases at the local tracks. Crooked racing thrives only in the dark. Like bacteria, it can't exist when exposed to the purging light.

John A. Miller of Brooklyn asks me to suggest one logical reason why the following scale of weights shouldn't be made standard in boxing: flyweight, 105 pounds; bantamweight, 115 pounds; lightweight, 125 pounds; welterweight, 145; middleweight, 155 pounds; masterweight, 165 pounds; light heavyweight, 175 pounds; heavyweight, over 175 pounds. I have nothing to say, John.
