Now Chinese Army Medico

By ROBERT P. MARTIN HONGKONG - (U.P.) - Fear of war in Europe or further anti-Jewish outbreaks in Nazi Germany forced "Wong the doctor" to fice from Berlin in 1936 to seek safety and happiness in China.

She found happiness-"fun" as she calls it-but not much safety i ndark dugouts, shelltorn front lines and between the never-ending streams of ever possible she carries a 38-caliber pistol in an old western holster. When the war broke out in July, 1937, "Wong the doctor" joined the staff of an American hospital at Kuling. While in Germany, she had studied pre-medics but her job at Kuling was to dress wounds. She watched closely the work of the American surgeons. When the shortage of surgeons became acute, she performed minor operations. Within a year, she had become one of the best "wound surgeons" in the medical corps.

Not until she reached Hankow did the "doctor" receive recognition from any except her co-workers. At Wuchang, one of the Wuhan tricities, she was assigned to hospital where the canons of sterility were unknown. Wounded men were housed in filthy hovels, exposed to daily Japanese air raids.

The girl surgeon transferred some of the wounded to the outskirts of the city, purchased cots for the most seriously wounded. As a result, her work was recognized by the army, and she received a higher post.

Her next job was to supervise reatment for convalescing soldiers. She prescribed diets, even supervised the hospital cooks. She diected the soldiers in preliminary exercises which were to assist them to regain physical health. At one time, she had 34 nurses working under her.

British Rally to War With 'Raise a Pig'

Britisher dislikes the idea of giving up his big breakfast—war or no war. Hence there has been a surprising response to an appeal by the government - sponsored Small Pig Keeper's council that a pig or two" be kept in back yards throughout the British isles.

In city, town, and village, pcople from all walks of life have rallied behind the banner of the council, whose war cry is "Raise a pig and produce your own

Little Men's Pig clubs are springing up like mushrooms and dealers who had begun a countercampaign behind the slogan "Eat rring and oatmeal breakfasts" instead of the traditional bacon and eggs, are being thrown for a

This pig raising drive is no joke, It began with due solemnity following a conference in London of farmers and farm workers, pig breeders, allotment holders and representatives of women's institutes. Out of the meeting emerged the Small Pig Keeper's council, an independent body charged with the task of assisting the householder to keep pigs. Four hundred pig clubs were started in Britain during the World war. In the end they were providing nearly 5,000,000 pounds of extra pork annually.

The council hopes to put that record to shame and is advocating porker raising not only as means of assuring plentiful bacon and meg., 32.3 m.

REGINA, Sask - (U.P.) - Agricultural leaders in Saskatchewangreatest farming province in Canada—are doing their utmost to clamp the lid on expansion of wheat growing that may come

Having in mind the almost disastrous results of the vast expansion of wheat lands that came during and after the war of 1914. 18, thtey are attempting to curb farmers' desire to grow more katchewan experienced a big growth of its wheat-growing territory. The entire southwestern and western country, first-class rangeland for cattle, was thrown open to farmers and the land broken up.

The collapse in wheat prices in the late '20s and the onset of the great drouth period coincided. As a result millions of dollars were spent in the past few years by both provincial and federal governments in moving drouthmarginal lands and turning the areas back to their original state –grasslands,
