FIRST WEEK

Saturday, February 10. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself except it abide in the vine: no more can ye, except ye abide in me. Read John 15:1-8.

"The most beautiful thing to St. John," said George Mattheson, was abidingness." It all depends of course, where we abide, but the word itself has peace at the heart of it and contenument and power. Only those who abidet in me, said Jesus, reap the rich harvests of the

For the best fruits of life ripen but slowly and are to be had only as we continue in those estates of body, mind and soul, which make them possible. Love needs to be long dwelt with to do its perfect work. Truth must be our constant comrade to have its sustaining way with us. Goodness must be given an abiding and unhindered opportunity before the rare and finished beauty of it ripens in character or conduct. Only unbroken communion with God makes a god-like life. Nothing comes of a life which is constantly uprooting itself.

Prayer: Lord of the Enduring and Central DR. ATKINS Peace in all our agitation, help us, having found in Thee and Thy ways, the homeland of our spirits there to abide. Enable us to do the right in a world where there is so much wrong; to be stable amid the wavering, and steadfast amongst those who succumb. Bless us with the inward rest that can endure the outward strain. So may Thy peace garrison our spirits. Amen.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE By Shepard Barclay

WHEN TO COVER IT THE GREAT ploneer bridge authority, Wilbur C. Whitehead, used to give his pupils a simple rule for their guidance regarding covering an honor, something which whist players used to do almost blindly as a matter of policy. His rule was this: "Cover an honor with an honor when doing so seems likely to promote a trick in your own or partner's hand." That usually meant when you had a lower honor, too, or reckoned your partner as likely to have one.
