Scout Commissioner, and Gustave Bisgyer, program director. Frank Luther, star and producer of "Songs of America," this week received from the Foster Hall collection in Pittsburgh a copy of every song Stephen Foster ever wrote. The new collection will enable Luther to introduce many little-known Foster songs to network listeners. They'll be especially appropriate this season with Foster's life being reenacted in a movie and with a postage stamp honoring the composer due for release in May.

In addition to heading the Hit Parade for a number of weeks, the song "Scatterbrain," was brought more fame to Frankie Masters, the broadcasting maestro, who wrote it. Republic Pictures has just purchased it as a title and will use the song in the picture of the same name.
