her latest starring picture now at the Quilna theatre.

Associate Producer John Stone discovered that eight out of every ten letters received by him asked for the song and dance more frequently.

So Stone entrusted Scarsist Jack Longmeyer, Lullie Skopp, and Harold Lushes to script the original opening scene of their script which showed the riding a pony and bulldozing a lot and substitute a scene in which she sings and dances with Cliff McCabe.

The song is "The Song of the Old Fisherman" applied with new lyrics by Sidney Clark.

James has other singing and dancing scenes in the picture including a stirring number and a scene in which she bull-ropes the lion.
