Stirring Episode Of Civil War To Be Told On Program

Alan Hale And Guinn Williams Will Enact Roles Of Union Scouts Attempting To Halt Gold Flow To South

During the 1860's, Virginia City, Nevada, was the gold mining center of the west—a boom town of over 30,000 inhabitants. When Union scouts Jearned that southern sympathizers living there had sent a vitally needed day at 9:30 p. m. over WEAF | The expenditures totaled $3,-$5,000,000 in gold to the confederacy by wagon train, they desperately sought to block the shipment.
