Minute Interviews With Film Big-Wigs Show Many Have Pet Peeves

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, May 4 — One-minute interviews:

JANE WYMAN—"I'm what you might call an accidental actress. I came here, met an agent and got a contract — all by accident. It will be another accident if I ever get to do serious stuff. When I go into a dramatic scene everybody on the set laughs and says, 'New week — East Lynne!' It's this damned snub nose that does it; it pegs me as a screwball. When I first — pardon me; they want me for this scene."

ERNEST SCHOEDSACK (director and co-producer of "Dr. Cyclops")—"I've got an idea for a picture. It may be a little too revolutionary just yet, but some day I swear I'm going to make a movie about a scientist who isn't mad!"

ROBERT TAYLOR—"Nothing bothered me much when I was new in Hollywood. Like singing in the Broadway Melodies — I thought, 'What the devil, you're just in here on a shoestring, so why get nervous?' But today, if they told I'd have to warble two bars of 'Home Sweet Home' I'd probably rush out and take voice lessons for three months."

PAULETTE GOES AFTER GUY WITH SCYTH
PAULETTE GODDARD—"That fellow wanted me to invest some money in a prize fighter. I told him I didn't want a fighter; I need a manager myself. You ought to see the fight I do with Lynn Overman in this picture. I go after him with a scythe."

EUGENIE LEONTOVICH (after being tested for her first film role by her husband, Gregory Ratoff—"Everyone told me that for the screen one need only think, and the thoughts show. But I made faces. I moved my lips too much, and I talked to the gallery. I guess I was bad.")

CECIL DEMILLE—"I've had to import a lot of Indians for the picture. Yes, there are quite a few already here, but the trouble with Hollywood Indians is beer. With those panaches, they look like comedians, not savages."

SIDNEY FRANKLIN—"We've had to postpone 'The Yearling' until next March, when we can have some new fawns to photograph. The movies can control almost anything—but not the time of year that deer are born."

AN ACTRESS (talking about a rival)—"There was more of a plot to the story of how she got her job in Hollywood than there has been in any picture she has played in since."

JACK DAWN (discussing his plastic makeup)—"No, I'm not a chemist, and it's lucky I'm not because the chemists all told me it couldn't be done. I'm working on something else now. I go out in the kitchen at home and cook up smelly messes of rubber in all the pans. My wife is a very patient woman."

Big Cities
Besides knowing that New York is the largest city in the country, do you know how the other big cities rate? Until 1940 census figures are released, the 1930 count is official, so rearrange the following list of cities with the largest, according to population, coming first, and so on down the line.
Akron, O., Scranton, Pa., Boston, Jersey City, Fort Worth, Tex., Denver, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Toledo, O., Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Omaha, Neb.

YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED
MINSTER, May 4 — Miss Leona Quinter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quinter of Ft. Laramie, exchanged marriage vows with Norbert Pleiman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pleiman, during a double-ring ceremony performed in St. Michael's church by Rev. Anthony Moeller. They will establish their home on a farm south of here.

NIGHT LIFE FOOTNOTES

DIXIE WIFE CLUB—Yes sun, it sure is true what they say about this place. Fine stuff and things at most any hour. Congenial surroundings. Good brew.

CASTLE FARM—Fourteen (count 'em) lovely lassies in a World's Fair preview. Plenty good beverages also.

RAINBOW ROOM—Soft lights and sweet music prevail—that is much of the latter until the jitterbugs get to flailing about with reckless abandon and a small beer. By the bye, food is obtainable also.

BOXY GRILL—We like the way the management smiles and exhorts the patrons to greater heights—the sky's the limit but don't break up the furniture or kick out the maddas.

DICK'S PLACE—You don't have to wait to make up a party of four to go thru the revolving doors here. Just stand out in front and the throngs will carry you into the ever-flowing spring. Great funspot.

GRABSTONE—This epic and span spot is rapidly attaining popularity among femina clubs.

LOST CREEK—For solid deliciousness, we find the steak sandwiches super edible and downright delectable. Full sized meals are definitely on the dandy side, too.

BLINKING OWL—On the North West-st-rd. Can't miss it because of sounds of revelry emanating and the choice beer aroma await on the breeze.

STONE'S GRILL—Naturally the first thing I think of is that mountainous four-finger special for half the price of a 30 cent cigar. Peace. It's wonderful.

WALDO GRILL—I usually save this one until just before going home. You know, just like you hold back on eating the ring off the cake until the very last. Very good results that way. I must admit. Suspense angle.

DANCELAND—After listening to the great Pat Waller last week and to French Wilgus' glowing list of other famous name bands coming up, I've practically decided to live at Russell's Point to enjoy this super deluxe music.

ALPINE VILLAGE—On your rounds . . . tonight or any night . . . don't forget you can rant and roar until 2 30 a. m. Listen to the tip-top arrangements of Henry Armandroit and his band . . . and get an earful of those lovely Wise Sisters.

BLUE CIRCLE—If you feel young and frivolous make a date to stop in here . . . dance to America's best bands on a colorful juke-box . . . or skip and hop to Duncan Williams and band on Sunday and Wednesday. Delectable foods and drinks.

CENTER GIRLS ALTER CLOTHES FOR CHILDREN

(Special To The Lima News)
ADA, May 4—Girls enrolled at the Scioto resident training center in Ada, which is the first NYA project of its kind in Ohio, are now engaged in altering surplus commodity clothing for distribution to needy youth.

A variety of articles have been produced there since its organization in November. Layettes have been made for the Red Cross, dresses for flood refugees, bedding for the Logan-co children's home and many articles for the center itself, including bedding, curtains, rugs and kitchen uniforms.

Mrs. Esther D. Slavin is the supervisor. The project is for unemployed girls between the ages of 18 and 25. At present the youths in residences have been drawn from Newark, Columbus, Plain City, Marion, Morrill, Upper Sandusky, Kenton, McGuffey, Alger, Bellefontaine, DeGraff, Lakeview, Huntsville, Quincy, Roundhead, Lima, Elida, Dunkirk, Belle Center, Delphos and Mansfield.

SPELLING CONTEST TOPS ADA SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE

(Special To The Lima News)
ADA, May 4—Crowds surged thru Ada high school building Friday night attending the second annual Open House which began at 7 o'clock.

High spot of the evening's entertainment was a spelling contest for which teams from the four upper classes were chosen, with a cash prize offered. Dorothy Rew, junior, won first prize and $2 cash; Florence Staley, senior, second and $1; Joyce Lamale, freshman, third, and 50 cents.

SUBPOENAED was the word that got them. Judges were Miss Mabel Crawford, Miss Ada Hunt and Miss Evelyn Felty. Dr. J. T. John was the pronouncer.

The first part of the evening was given over to inspection of the displays of classroom work.

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED
The South Side Building and Loan-assn is plaintiff in a suit filed Saturday against Amelia C. Keil and others, seeking foreclosure of mortgage on Lima real estate and recovery of $2,878.70 claimed due on a note issued Jan. 16, 1930.

Book Reviews

Lima Public Library Staff
ARARAT. By Elgin Groseclose. Carriek and Evans.—$2.50.

An unusual setting and plot mark this novel. It is a story of racial warfare in the region lying south of the Black Sea, the region around Mr. Ararat. The central figure is an American missionary to the Armenians who leads a remnant of this persecuted people thru massacre, migration and starvation on their way to a home. This is a large and exciting theme and is one of those that can be argued about, puzzled over and attacked and defended. The surface narrative is colorful and there is also intertwined the truth of the desire for peace and security. It is an almost unbearable timely book.

THIS SIDE OF GLORY.—By Gwen Bristow.—Thomas Y. Crowell.—$2.50.

This new book by Gwen Bristow lives up to the high promise of her two earlier books, "Deep Summer" and "Landsome Road." This one is the story of the battle between the 20th century south and the old plantation families. Eleanor Upjohn was the daughter of a man who raised himself from poor white trash to a position of wealth and importance. Her background and standards were in conflict with the gentle aristocratic traditions of her husband.

When their plantation was about to be lost thru laziness and carelessness Eleanor saved it by hard, uncompromising work, but in so doing she almost lost her husband's love, for he no longer felt that he was needed.

LYRIC DAUGHTER.—By Arthur Guiterman.—E. P. Dutton.—$2.25.

Arthur Guiterman's lilting rhymes and charming verses long ago earned him a place with poetry lovers. His poems are all good-natured, with a quick sense of the ridiculous and intelligent foiling. This new volume of his poems contains some earlier ones published some years ago and now out of print, among them the famous ones, "Sam-u-el and Cam-u-el" and "The Antiseptic Baby" and the Prophylactic Pup."

It is a perfect book of poems to read aloud to family and friends.

CAROLINA GARDENS.—By Edward Terry Shaffer.—University of North Carolina Press.—$3.50.

This book should not be confused with mere publicity accounts of southern gardens. This is a minutely descriptive, readable and excellently illustrated study of the gardens in the Carolinas, those inland as well as in the low country. There is a most interesting range
