Bing Crosby and Gloria Jean are the singing stars of the Ohio hit, "If I Had My Way," a filmusical introducing several new song hits and bringing to the screen several oldtime vaudeville stars. Among the supporting cast is Charles Winninger, El Brendel and Allyn Joslyn.

With Merle Oberon and George Brent co-starred, and Pat O'Brien, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Binnie Barnes and Frank Me-Hugh heading the supporting cast, "Til We Meet Again," at the Signia, offers one of the most brilliant star line-ups of the current film season. The story is a ooignant film 'romanec.

By far the most absorbingly arilling story of adventure filmed in color, "Northwest Passage," darring Spencer Tracy and featuring Robert Young and Walter Brennan, is the current State attraction. Releasing a barrage of bright quips and hilarious anties, Baby Sandy and Hugh Herbert are co-starred in "Little Accident," State co-feature. Richard Carlson and Florence Rice are east in the romantic roles.

The happy combination of Bing Crosby and Gloria Jean is resulting in top-notch cutertainment at the Ohio theatre, where "If I Had My Way" is heading the hill.

Musically, the picture is one of Crosby's best. Gloria, who made her screen debut in "The Under-Pup," is an unusual child soprano. She is twelve years old, yet she handles difficult renditions in a manner that has amazed musical
