

Russian Actress Replaces Olivier On Kate Smith Spot

"What's My Name" Program To Be Altered To Speed Up Show, Increase Number Of Contestants

Eugenie Leontovitch, distinguished Russian actress who has just made her first motion picture after a notable career on Broadway, will be heard in an original radio dramatization on the "Kate Smith Hour" Friday, at 7 p. m., over WABC.

In order to facilitate faster handling of questions on the air and subsequently to increase the number of program contestants, Ed Byron, producer of What's My Name, is instituting a change of format effective Friday, at 8:30 p. m. over WEAF.

A killer-diller thrill is in store for dialers when Johnny Green and his orchestra swing out with "Boog It" as the instrumental highlight of the "Johnny Presents" program over WABC Friday, at 8 p. m. In direct contrast will be their version of "Imagination" with a vocal by Audrey Marsh and the Swing Fourteen. Other tunes are "Exactly Like You," "The Pessimistic Character," "I Can't Love You Any More" and "Two in a Taxi." The program will also spotlight another Max Martin "Perfect Crime" story.

A bindlestiff, one of those characters of the west who are not exactly hoboes and not exactly hitch hikers, inspires the Old Ranger's true story, "The Bindlestiff Who Knew His Bible" on the Death Valley Days broadcast, at 7:30 p. m. over WJZ. In the tale a bindlestiff who had read his Bible from cover to cover administered a severe shock to a group of women who tried to reform him.

"The Sacrifice," presenting the story of the big city boy and the small town girl and the unexpected result when he persuaded her to give him up and return home is dramatized by Don Ameche and Claire Trevor on their Friday night program over WEAF at 9 p. m. Music is by Victor Young's orchestra with vocals by Pat Friday.

Marie Green and her Merry Men will highlight the Al Pearce program Friday, 6:30 p. m. WABC, when they sing Franz Lehár's popular "Merry Widow." Carl Hoff's orchestra will play "Zig Guenerweisen" featuring Rafael Mendez playing a trumpet solo of the part which is generally played by a violinist. Elmer Blunt (played by Al Pearce) plays his low pressure sales technique in a gas station while the rest of the cast is busy running their own newspaper.

VERMONT ADDS RULES TO CURB ALLOY PROVEN ALSO SUBSTITUTE FOR PLATINUM

MONTPELIER, Vt., June 14.—(UP)—Vermont's outdoor advertising law became stricter this year with the enactment of new amendments, which resulted from a drive for an "unspoiled Vermont."

Every outdoor sign requires a $1 fee and the larger ones cannot be erected until a fee of 2 1-2 cents a square foot is paid.

In past years election posters have been exempt because of a ruling that signs smaller than 6 square feet could be erected free, but that has been changed so there are no exemptions. Political candidates will have to pay one dollar for every poster.

No sign can be displayed within 300 feet of any public park, playground or cemetery; signs of 300 square feet must be at least 300 feet from the traveled part of a public highway and signs are banned within 300 feet of a highway intersection or a railroad crossing.

"Good! Now be one more knot and you pass your Scout test!"

TAXPAYERS' SIGNS VETOED

ALBANY, N. Y., June 14.—(UP)—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman has vetoed a Republican-sponsored bill requiring posting of signs on all public projects, reading: "This Project Paid for by Taxpayers."

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—(UP)—A new alloy, stronger than the hardest steel and containing only seven per cent iron, has been developed here.

Tentatively called "K-42-B," the metal is a composition of nickel, chromium, iron, carbon and manganese. Its ability to withstand high temperatures was proved when the metal refused to melt at temperatures nearing the 3,000-degree Fahrenheit mark.

At the same time, "K-42-B" was found to resist corrosion and oxidation—a fact that research workers believe will make it adaptable for steam fittings and dies.

The new metal was discovered during the search for an economical substitute for platinum in the manufacture of filaments for radio tubes. Porter H. Brace, chief research worker, says its cost is comparable with similar alloys. He added that the term "K-42-B" is likely to remain its official name.

WELL DRESSED WOMAN SPENDS 'ONLY' $10,000

LONDON, June 15.—(UP)—"Bright colors, suitable makeup and plenty of smiles"—this is the recipe for beauty—war or no war—used by the world's best dressed woman.

She is Mme. Antone Patino, wife of the Bolivian minister in Paris, who is visiting London. Mme. Patino was judged the best dressed woman by Parisian dressmakers, with the Duchess of Windsor second and the Duchess of Kent third.

Beauty, she believes, comes from only one source—happiness. Mme. Patino never has to diet. She eats as much as she likes and what she likes, but she seldom drinks or smokes. Altho it has been rumored that she spends fabulous sums on her clothes, she actually never spends more than $10,000 a year. Her suits she buys in London. Her gowns are made by Lelong and Alix and her hats by Susy, but her shoes are American.

Mme. Patino buys her two small daughters' clothes in London. That is one of the reasons for her present visit.
