

Cowboy Turns Mummy For Sake Of Movie Plot

Tom Tyler Is Subjected To Odd Make-Up

3,000 Years Roll Away When Archeologists Start To Do Stuff

HOLLYWOOD, June 15—(UP)—We shook hands today with a mummy.

It was a mummified cowboy. He was exact, and we don't guess we ever will have another experience like that. Neither will the mummy.

It happened at Universal Studios, home of the horror picture. In production was a number, entitled "The Mummy's Hand." It was the story of Prince Khari, buried alive in a pyramid 3,000 years ago and kept living through the centuries by a mysterious fluid which the high priests of Karnak injected into his veins once each night during the cycle of the full moon.

So, according to the plot, those celebrated archeologists, Dick Foran, Peggy Moran and Wallace Ford went to Egypt. They started rummaging around in the tomb. That made the mummy mad and he ripped his shrouds, climbed from his sarcophagus, and murdered a few scientists.

The mummy turned out to be that rootin' tootin', shootin' cowboy of at least 150 horse operas, Tom Tyler, in person.

It takes six hours every morning for makeup man Jack Pierce to turn Tyler into a mummy. When the job is thru Tyler is so uncomfortable that he can work only three hours before the cameras. Then he returns to the makeup department, where Pierce and an assistant spend another hour and a half peeling 3,000 centuries of disintegration from him.

Pierce, who created Frankenstein for the screen said he got the inspiration for the mummy from watching a hippopotamus at the zoo.

"I cover all of Mr. Tyler's face, neck, and hands with thin slivers of cotton," Pierce said. "Then I saturate it with spirit gum and when it dries it wrinkles like his own skin, only the wrinkles are bigger and deeper. Then I paint him all over with a nice grizzly gray paint and when the job's done, I fleck him with particles of clay. They rub off when he touches his face and that's good to show how his flesh is disintegrating."

NITE LIFE FOOTNOTES

BOXY GRILL—With baseball interest at peak, it's handy and comfortable, too, to sit here and watch the scores roll in. An electric tabulator gives out rapid fire information with Mike, et al, whipping out drinks.

DUTCH'S CAFE—If you haven't stopped by for a spell, better come in and give a look-see. All redecorated—hence most elegant drinking spot.

GREENDALE GARDENS—Enjoy your brew out in the open air. Tables in the wide open places here one and a half miles north of Lima in the N. West-st-d.

LOUIE'S—Step right up, folks, here's where you get that delicious Italian spaghetti and reasonable mizeage rates. Also goes on dancing along with suitable internal poultices in bottle form.

DANCELAND—That world-famous all-female band, the Coquettes, will append the dance fanatics here from June 21 to July 4. Really is a fast breaking outfit. Featured is Viola Smith, claimed to be the nation's fastest girl hide-beater.

LOST CREEK—When guffed by the heat and all distraught over the complexities of figuring out the family dinner, just call the whole thing off and come out here. Russ Burke makes eating a summer time pleasure rather than a biological necessity.

CASTLE FARM—That empress of comedy and dispenser of confidential ballads carries on in her sixth big mad colossal week. The little woman's name is Dolly Sterling.

STONE'S GRILL—What, you've forgotten about Father's Day? Weep no more for the good pater, but rush into Stone's and pick out a little brown jug for the head of the family. He'll like such a gift better than the customary necktie altho it probably won't last as long.

LITTLE ITALY—All you ornithologists will find the jitterbug collection here a great adjunct to an evening's entertainment. The leaping about is slightly terrific fun.

DICK'S PLACE—A remarkably cool spot. On the entertainment side there's usually a coterie of saddle-bruised cowboys clamping out ballads of foam. Beverages range from foamy brews to mixtures of higher specific gravity.

RAINBOW ROOM—Air-conditioned. Observe closely that silver urn of mint sprigs reposing on the mahogany. Then have a Deep-South yulet. This drink is contrived with cunning skill by the Colonnets lurking in the back bar.

MOONLIGHT GARDENS—Swing and sway with Sammy Kaye Thursday night. In addition to this famous name is the committee on nominations, including Don Champ of St. Marys and Gilbert Myrl of Castilia, vice presidents; Lester Neiswander of Bluffton, secretary; L. D. Herman of Leipsic, treasurer. They will assume office at the regular meeting of the organization in Kenton on July 27.

Included among speakers at the annual meeting were Roy Warren Roof, prominent Kenton attorney, counsel for the balers in their litigation to have the occupation of baling made a strictly agricultural pursuit and thereby exempt from payment of Social Security taxes; Stanley J. Laybourne of the Ohio department of agriculture, and George Durbin of Hillyards, an official of the Brotherhood of Shavers.

DEGREE IS AWARDED—OTTAWA, June 15—Mrs. Virginia Schaefer Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schaefer of Ottawa, this week received a degree of master in science of social administration from the University of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Williamson was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware in 1932 and went from there to the graduate school of the University of Pittsburgh and worked in the Allegheny-co Welfare-agm. She is at present a case worker in the Family society of the same administration.

YOUTH INJURES FOOT—KENTON, June 15—Donald Conkle, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Conkle of Kenton, received treatment yesterday at Antioch hospital here for an injured foot, suffered when the youth stepped on a nail while playing. He was treated at the hospital and discharged.

BASS SEASON IS OPENED—DELPHOS, June 15—Bass season will open at midnight Saturday and fishermen are eagerly awaiting the start of the season. Many from here are announcing that they will be along the streams trying their skill against the finny

BLUFFTON MAN DEVELOPS NEW BUCK HAY RAKE

(Special To The Lima News)

BLUFFTON, June 15—The manufacture of auto-buck rakes is Bluffton's newest industry. This development came as an outgrowth of a home made mechanism built two years ago by Phillip Hilty to speed hay-making on his farm near Bluffton.

Hilty is manufacturing the buck rakes at the Augsburg garage here and is equipped at the present time for a production of two rakes a week. Hilty adapts a used car for the hay gathering work by attaching a large buck rake to the rear of the auto after the back half of the body has been removed.

Farmers in this area who are using this mechanism say that they are able to gather hay much faster this way than they could by the conventional wagon method.

Average cost of an auto buck rake of the type being built by Hilty approximates $150, depending largely upon the value of the used car to which the rake is attached.

Delphos Will Play Host For Beemen's Meet

(Lima News Bureau)

DELPHOS, June 15—Water-works park will have its annual spring clean-up, with flower beds cleaned, grass cut and other work accomplished, in readiness for the fifth annual field day of the Tri-County Beekkeepers-assy on Sunday, June 23. The gathering will open at 1 p. m. and is expected to attract hundreds of beemen from scores of communities in this and adjoining states.

Delphos is among the largest honey shipping centers in the United States and this area is known among apiarists of many states in the union. The Tri-County organization is the largest of its kind.

A publicity campaign to acquaint those interested in the Delphos meeting is being waged by the officers of the Tri-County others of the State Beekkeepers-organization in conjunction with assn. This is expected to make the attendance at the 1940 meet in excess of the four previous field days held here.

Widely-known specialists in bee culture from this and other states will be on the program, according to Simon Allen, secretary of the local organization. Some of these speakers have been heard in Delphos before with other experts who will appear for the first time on the Delphos program.

Erasmus Long of Conover, E. R. Root of Medina, C. E. Reese and Dr. W. E. Dunham of Ohio State university extension service are among the state speakers. Indiana will send James Starkey of Crawfordsville to have part in the program. Russell Kelly of East Lansing will represent Michigan on the lecturers' list.

Members of the local association will assist the officers as host to the field meet. There will be a question and answer period and other varied items of an educational value to all beemen, officers here have announced.

WAPAKONETA TO OBTAIN ICE FROM LIMA FIRM

(Lima News Bureau)

WAPAKONETA, June 14—Local ice users in the future will use ice manufactured by a Lima concern, it was disclosed today with the discontinuance of ice manufacturing for residential and commercial consumers by a local brewing company.

Harold Metzger, operator of the Wapakoneta Ice Co., announced he had signed a contract with representatives of the Lima concern. The ice is delivered here in large trucks that make daily trips to this and adjoining cities.

Book Reviews

Books Reviewed Here May Be Obtained At The Lima Public Library, Main Library

By MARY LATHROP

RIVERS OF EARTH—By James Still. Viking Press, $2.50.

James Still writes of the Kentucky mountains where ballads are still sung, where school children are called scholars, and where the memories of feuds are still green. Thru the mind of a boy of Tom Sawyer's age the story is told. The boy rides proudly on his father's mule, smokes bats out of the schoolhouse roof, keeps his uncle company in the local jail and gradually discovers for himself a place in his world.

This is not a long novel a great deal of life is packed into it. It is rich with sights, sounds and smells, and rich with earthy speech, ballads and legends.

EUROPE DOWNSTREAM—By Leonard Mosley. Doubleday, Doran and Co., $2.50.

"Europe Downstream" is the story of life in Europe as seen by a foreign correspondent on the staff of the largest newspaper group in England. Leonard Mosley sailed with a ship carrying arms to the Loyalists in Spain; he watched Franco waging war; he lived with a German family and came to appreciate the mental agony of a German not a member of the National Socialist party. He witnessed the advance of German troops into Czechoslovakia.

The book has two virtues which mark it out from others of its kind. It is readable, and its author is a faithful observer who does not let his personal opinions distort his narrative.

THEIR OWN COUNTRY—By Alice Tisdale Hobart. Bobbs-Merrill Co., $2.50.

In her new book, Mrs. Hobart brings Hester and Stephen Chase, the characters of "Oil for the Lamps of China," back to the United States and sets them down in the midst of its teeming uncertainty. The depression overtakes them and they have to face many new problems.

You will want immediately to Hester and Stephen for you will recognize in them some of your own problems and experiences.

NIGHT IN BOMBAY—By Louis Bromfield. Harper and Brothers, $2.50.

This glamorous tale of love and adventure in Bombay is a little like "The Rain Came," but really a better book. It concerns an American ex-showgirl and the procuresses, thieves and parasites who are crowded together with her in Bombay where life is confused and befuddled.

This is fiction for fun, and Bromfield has written with sophistication, good sentimentality, and a great skill for writing pure entertainment. The story is compact and swift moving.

THE WABASH—By William Wilson, Farrar and Rinehart, $2.50.

The story of the Wabash river

DELPHOS SEWER REPAIR JOB TO BE DISCUSSED

(Lima News Bureau)

DELPHOS, June 15—Allen and Van Wert-co commissioners are to be here Wednesday for the purpose of viewing a proposed joint county sewer which runs thru a portion of the city.

Following many complaints from property owners in south Delphos that the present sewer is damaged and that it always has been inadequate to carry away the surface water, some of which drains from Washington-tp, city council petitioned Van Wert-co commissioners for the improvement. Hearing on the application will be June 25 at Van Wert.

Mayor W. D. Swihart said the present sewer runs under the Miami and Erie canal at one point. It also travels under residence property and at that point the drain has broken, the mayor has been informed.

South Delphos residents have complained that after heavy rains their lawns and premises have been inundated with water and that basements have been flooded repeatedly.

MERCHANTS TO STAGE JULY 4 CELEBRATION

(Lima News Bureau)

DELPHOS, June 15—Progress is being made here on the program of a group of local businessmen who are sponsoring a July 4th celebration, with free vaudeville shows and other features, according to Lee Grady, chairman of the general committee.

City officials are cooperating in the program and city council has gone on record as allowing the use of streets in the business district for the presentation of vaudeville acts, in the afternoon and evening.

Claude Shaffer, Indianapolis, balloonist, has been engaged for an ascension and a parachute descent. Delphos Eagles and Jefferson high school bands will furnish music during the day. There will be a pyrotechnic display to close the program.

There will be four vaudeville teams engaged, each unit to provide two acts.

It is expected that the use of the pavilion owned by the Delphos fair board will be available for dancing. If this is used it will be placed on one of the thoroughfares off Main-st, according to tentative plans. Efforts will be made to have visitors here from all adjacent communities. Edward Wulffhorst is head of the free acts committee.

SUBMARINE IN 1920

The submarine is regarded as a modern invention, but the first one really was built in England in 1920. It was a wooden shell, covered with leather, and navigated by 12 rowers.
