

Marjorie Rambeau To Create A New Tugboat Annie

Imitation Of Great Marie Not Planned

Veteran Actress Says She Will Play Role As She Deems Best

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, July 6—Tugboat Annie and the trusty Narcissus soon will sail again. With a foot and a boot at her cherished enemy, Cap'n Bullwinkle of the Salamander, Skipper Annie Brennan is going to try to salvage a motion picture series that has been too long aground.

Marie Dressler died almost exactly six years ago, and the Tugboat Annie stories bought for her by Metro began to gather dust. For a while it was said that no other actress would replace her in the salty characterization, but the studio began looking around for a successor about the time Grauman's Chinese theatre moved its box office onto the cement slab containing Miss Dressler's footprints.

Then began a procession of doughty old dolls who either didn't quite look the part or couldn't act it. Metro sold the movie rights to Warner Brothers, and the search continued. Not long ago it almost culminated in the selection of Elsa Maxwell. But the new Tugboat Annie is Marjorie Rambeau.

WANT IMITATE MARIE DRESSLER

Hollywood thinks she's a good choice. Seeing and hearing her on the set, you'd be sure of it. Miss Rambeau is a colorful and lusty character in her own right. She's a sort of feminine John Barrymore; there have been a lot of dips and peaks in her career; if she has missed theatrical immortality it's because she has been too busy having fun; but whenever she sets her mind to it she can do a bang-up job of acting.

"I'm not like Dressler, and if they had wanted me to imitate her I wouldn't have taken the part," she said. "I can do my own characterization, and I certainly do feel in character with these old seagoing clothes and this make-up. . . . No, they haven't tried to age me—just to make me look weatherbeaten."

NEW BUT FORCEFUL CHARACTERIZATION

Altho she began on the professional stage, in San Francisco in 1901, Miss Rambeau is not quite 41 and even in makeup is a good more attractive-looking than the public conception of Tugboat Annie. Slimmer, too. But quite as brisk and forthright, and maybe a somewhat more sympathetic character because of irrefragable flutterings of femininity.

She began her movie career in 1916, and resumed it in 1930. But most of her life has been spent on stages, from Broadway to Juneau, Alaska. Once when she was playing in stock in Tacoma, Tugboat Annie, a well-loved figure of the northwest whose exploits were the basis for the tales written by Norman Reilly Rance. She also has known Rance for several years.

MISS RAMBEAU'S BEEN AROUND

The author, incidentally, is head scenarist at the Warner studio, but when the company purchased the movie rights to the stories from Metro, they were turned over to another writer for adaptation.

I asked Miss Rambeau if she were a good sailor, and she said yes, and that she also knows the northwest coast. When she was 11 she went to Alaska with her mother, who was opening a hospital. And once they went on the ordinary brief voyage across the strait to Siberia and were away 30 days, storm-bound with an open whaling boat. Miss Rambeau was the first white child to travel up the Snake river, she said. Years later she went back with a stock company and played in towns where no theatrical performance ever had been seen.

BIDS FOR NEW BRIDGE TO BE ACCEPTED

(Lima News Bureau)
WAPAKONETA, July 6—Sealed bids for the construction of a new concrete bridge across the Anguize river, two and one-half miles northeast of here, will be accepted Thursday, July 11, by Auglaize county commissioners at the courthouse.

The new span will replace an old iron bridge, known as the Golden bridge. The estimated cost of the new structure was set at $14,944.94 by County Engineer Vernal Killian. The construction work must be completed within 90 days after signing of contracts.

NIGHT LIFE FOOTNOTES

MOONLIGHT TERRACE—Dancing under the stars to one of Lima's favorite spots of music, Bob DeLkman. Look who is coming Friday night, July 12—Dick Stable and his orchestra!

IRISH HILL—Round and square dancing goes on here Wednesdays and Saturdays. Chattering movies are featured every Friday nite. All time have hilarious time.

COURT CAFE—You'll like that cozy looking bar arrangement. . . . Virge and Joe hold down the fort when Dick isn't here. Ask Ott about that last team of horses he owned.

STABLE CAFE—Jitterbugs tolerated and even encouraged seven nights a week and Sunday p. m.'s. . . . Genial Carl Shater continues to dish 'em out and is at the door to meet the new and old, thirsty and unthirsty.

DUTCH'S CAFE—Folkies, here's the spot to get that elegant T-bone steak. Incidentally this is the only place we know of that has an old-fashioned family entrance.

BLINKING OWL—All types, kinds and varieties of sandwiches are dealt out here. Personally we're partial to the beef sandwich smothered with lamb chops.

STONE'S GRILL—The management modestly claims the drinks and cats here come in the most copious quantities to be found in the entire village.

GLENDALE GARDENS—Enjoy your brew out in the open air. Tables in the wide open places here one and a half miles north of Lima in the N. West-st-rd.

LOUIE'S—Step right up, folks, here's where you get that delicious Italian spaghetti at reasonable mileage rates. Also goes on dancing along the suitable internal potluck in bottle form.

LOST CREEK—When guffed by the heat and all distraught over the complexities of figuring out the family dinner, just call the whole thing off and come out here. Russ Burke makes eating a summertime pleasure rather than a biological necessity.

ROXY GRILL—With baseball interest at peak, it's handy and comfortable, too, to sit here and watch the scores roll in. An electric tabulator gives out rapid fire information with Mike, et al, whipping out drinks.

DICK'S PLACE—A remarkably cool spot. On the entertainment side there's usually a coterie of saddle-brused cowboys clamping out ballads or fluffy beverages range from stouff brews to mixtures of higher specific gravity.

THREE HARDIN-CO FARMERS INJURED

(Lima News Bureau)
KENTON, July 6—Three Hardin-co farmers received injuries yesterday.

Allan Cole of south of Kenton suffered a painfully injured right hand while harvesting hay. The tone of a pitchfork passed thru the hand, necessitating treatment and the administering of anti-tetanus serum at Antonio hospital.

Lauren Holland of near Kenton suffered a crushed thumb on his right hand while hauling logs with a team. He was also treated at Antonio hospital.

Ed Howe of north of Kenton was painfully injured on the face when he was stung numerous times by a swarm of bees. He was attempting to live a new swarm when they attacked him.

OFFICER NAMED
BLUFFTON, July 6—John Garlinger was appointed this week to serve temporarily as night policeman of Bluffton. He will replace Albert Reichenbach, during July and August. Reichenbach will operate his thrashing rig during the wheat, oats and barley harvest seasons.

Book Reviews

Books Reviewed Here May Be Obtained At The Lima Public Library, Main Library

By MARY LATHROP
A SOUTHERNER DISCOVERS NEW ENGLAND. By Jonathan Daniels. MacMillan and Company. $3.00.

Daniels, a journalist and newspaperman already famous for his "Southerner Discovers the South" writes now of the economic conditions and living conditions in each of the New England states. He writes sympathetically and with a feeling for the country, and as one reviewer says, "does a rattling good job."

By Henry Bellamy. Simon and Schuster. $2.75.

Opinion is somewhat divided as to the merits of this book. It has stayed consistently on the best seller lists for some weeks, but perhaps has done so because of its sensational aspects rather than any great literary merit. It is a long, full, many-chaptered novel in which the life of a small midwestern town is depicted during two decades before and after the turn of the century. Many skeletons in the closets are brought out, there are many unattractive characters and a great many abnormalities. But in spite of that the book is very well written and a great many abnormalities. But in spite of that the book is very well written and a good story withal.

By Jenny Ballou. Houghton, Mifflin Company. $3.00.

A gossip study of the life and times of Ella Wheeler Wilcox whose "Poems of Passion" were read and enjoyed by thousands during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Combining wit, imagination and criticism, Miss Ballou has recreated an epoch and a personality.

By Frances Frantz Fazzar and Rinehart. $2.50.

Uncle Snowball, the Haywards hired man, had arrived unexpectedly on their New England farm in the midst of a snowstorm and had stayed 17 years. He had periodic drinking bouts and fits of wanderlust, but he always returned to the family he loved.

By Will and Nancy Hayward. With their eight children to add fun to almost any situation, Grandma to exercise her straight-laced disapproval of Snowball and Uncle Snowball, the father confessor to all the family. Uncle Snowball with his songs, his laughter, his tenderness and his solid sense will take root in the heart of any reader.

Popular Park Songs To Be Featured On Summer Hour

Ted Weems Will Present Novelty Version Of "I'm A Tough Hombre" On Beat The Band Show

A Sunday stroll thru the park, enlivened by popular "park" songs and dramatic episodes typical of this universal gathering place, will feature the Summer Hour broadcast Sunday night, at 8 p. m. over WABC.

Heading the musical visit to the park bench will be Budd Hulick, master of ceremonies. During the park concert he introduces Jessica Dragonette, star of the Summer Hour, and James Newill, popular baritone. They join the chorus in the song "Strolling Thru the Park."

For the first time in the history of the program, an Ellery Queen story that has appeared in print will be dramatized on the air when "The Adventure of the Fallen Gladiator" is broadcast by popular request on Sunday over WABC at 6:30 p. m.

Maestro Ted Weems will present a novelty version of "I'm A Tough Hombre" on the "Beat the Band" broadcast Sunday, 5:30 p. m., over WEA.

The special lyrics written by Harry Budka will be featured by "Red" Ingle and Elmo Tanner, with Marvel Maxwell and Perry Como joining in the chorus. Perry Como's solo will be "Haven't Time To Be A Millionaire." Garry Moore is encee and Fort Pearson announces the broadcast which will originate in Chicago.

The worm has finally turned and, along with ants, turtles and conch shells, will receive national recognition on the "Hour of Charm" program for Sunday night, when Rush Hughes relates the importance of the role played by nature in electrical research and experiments conducted by Dr. Willis R. Whitney of Schenectady, a scientist whose sense of curiosity is insatiable.

Frank Munn's tenor solo on the American Album of Familiar Music, Sunday, at 8:30 p. m., over the NBC-Rad Network, will be a ballad, "Beautiful Dreams," by Bill Paisley, director of the Music Library. Paisley composed the tune in the spring of 1933 during a stroll thru Central park.

Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom, once light heavyweight champion of the world, now the "human domino" of the airwaves, will discuss the
