Ruth Dieckhoff Heads 'Biography' Cast on U. W. Stage

'Biography,' one of the most smartly written plays of the past few Broadway seasons, will reappear on the stage of the Wisconsin Union theater Thursday and Friday, when the Wisconsin Players present it as their third summer show.

Directed by Carl Cass, 'Biography' is the story of a woman in an eventful chapter in her life. Ina Claire was the original star of the show and is reviving it this summer.

RUTH DIECKHOFF

Ruth Dieckhoff, instructor in dramatics at Central high school, will play the Ina Claire role. Miss Dieckhoff is remembered for her portrayal of Mrs. Craig in 'Craig's Wife' last summer with the campus players.

Opposite her Charles Goff will play the role of Richard Kurt. Margaret Hootman will play Minnie; Harlan Lance, Melchior Feydak; Howard Hovey will take the part of Leander Nolan; Robert Lang, Warwick Wilson; Charles Zieckler will play Orrin Kinnicott, and Mary Jones, Slade Kinnicott.

NBC Program Again to Visit Lake Mills

LAKE MILLS—For the second time in less than four years a National Broadcasting Corporation Farm and Home Hour program will originate at the high school here on Monday, July 22. This program is to be the main feature of the Dairy Cooperative centennial here July 20-22.

In August, 1936, a similar program was broadcast from here during the centennial observance of the founding of this city.

During the three days, in addition to addresses by leading agriculturists and dairymen of the nation, there will be hand and chorus music, dancing, and a WLS National Barn Dance entertainment.

The closing feature of the final night's program will be the crowning of Jefferson county's dairy queen by Ruth Viner, Arzyle, state dairy queen. The ceremony will be held in the new gymnasium here.

Milwaukee Prepares Pageant for July 13-20

MILWAUKEE—A program of pageantry, parades, music, folk dancing, and exhibitions on land and water will lure Milwaukee to the lake front in Juneau park, July 13 to 20, for the seventh annual Midsummer festival. Some 150 airplanes are also expected to fly over Milwaukee on July 14, according to Rudolf Hokanson, President of the Festival Commission.

Opening the eight-day Milwaukee Mardi Gras will be a four-hour parade down Wisconsin ave. A. J. Obenberger, chairman of the parade committee, announced that more than 50 musical units, lead by the Blatz American Legion band, will participate. A novelty feature of the parade will be a papier mache 'menagerie' created by the Work Projects Administration exhibits and pageant project.

Indian Youth Wins Forum Art Prize

NEW YORK—A 17-year-old Indian boy, Ben Quintana, Cochiti Pueblo, N. M., was announced Saturday as the winner of the $1,000 first award in the art division of the annual American Youth Forum competition, in which 494,546 high school students participated.

Young Quintana, descendant of the cliff dwellers, submitted a tempera painting of Indian life which won the unanimous vote of the judges for first place. The second award of $500 goes to Elliott Twery, of the Theodore Roosevelt high school, Washington, D. C., and third award of $100 to Robert Bursiel of Greeley high school, Greeley, Colo.

Oconomowoc Theater Opens July 15

OCONOMOWOC, Wis.—The Coach House Summer theater will open its doors on July 15 with a new comedy, 'Get Ready to Live,' by Sarah Greenhill.

This play was fifth on a list of 10 selected by the play reading council, composed of 15 members from Watertown, Waukesha, Delafield, and Oconomowoc and it has been submitted together with the other nine entries to the final jury of award in the competition for the $300 Marjorie Montgomery Ward Baker prize.

I was going great. 'But I said to myself, Gregory, my boy, what future is there in acting? With a figure like mine and an accent like mine, what could I do but go on being funny? I always was cast as a theatrical manager, or an agent, or a producer. I was the man who said 'That's colossal' and shouted into the telephone, 'You're fired.' It was funny, yes. But if the movies quit making stories about managers, agents, or producers? That's what I asked myself.

'So I went in to see Mr. Darryl F. Zanuck and I told him I wanted to be a motion picture director. I told Mr. Darryl F. Zanuck that I had great experience and that I could do well as a director. He urged that I continue being funny on the screen. I said, 'No, I had seen on the wall the handwriting. I had to direct.

'And Mr. Darryl F. Zanuck let me direct. I have directed 13 pictures. Some of them have been very big pictures. Only one was not so good and it was not bad.

MAUD SCHEERER

Reader to Present Theater Hits Here

Maud Scheerer, Broadway dramatic reader, will come to Madison next Sunday night in the Wisconsin Union theater, for a series of three presentations of theater hits of the past year.

Miss Scheerer, who has been in Madison often before during the summer season, will give 'Life with Father,' next Sunday, 'Key Largo' on July 21, and 'Ladies in Retirement,' July 28.

First Park Concert to Be Next Sunday

Madison's season of park music will open at 2:45 p. m. next Sunday when the Madison Work Projects Administration orchestra plays the first of a series of five open-air concerts in Vilas park. The concerts will be broadcast by WIBA.

For this series, the orchestra will be augmented to about 40 pieces. A city appropriation made possible the addition of members of the Madison Federation of Musicians to the personnel already playing under the direction of G. Lorenz White.

The city park commission will erect a stage and bleachers in the park. Programs will be chosen from lighter classical works, interspersed with modern music.

'The programs will be conducted from the standpoint of popular appeal,' White said, 'in order that the broadest variety of musical tastes will be satisfied.'

The conductor has had considerable experience in organizing and conducting civic music featuring Minneapolis and St. Paul talent, and intends to bring outstanding Madison soloists before his audiences here.

Mrs. Seuel-Holst Wins Two Positions on U. S. Music Groups

Mrs. Marie Seuel-Holst, Madison composer and teacher, last week accepted two appointments from national organizations.

She was chosen by the National Federation of Music Clubs as a member of a nationwide committee of judges to determine the artistic value of motion picture music.

She was selected by the National League of American Pen Women as radio chairman for the central states—Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, and Indiana. As radio chairman of the Pen Women's Madison branch, Mrs. Holst won first prize in the organization's nationwide contest.

HOSTESS Ellen Drew will be official hostess for the Veterans of Foreign Wars national entertainment in Los Angeles this summer.

Jan Peerce, American tenor, and choice of Toscanini on two occasions, will lift Madison music from its summer doldrums July 19 when he sings in the Wisconsin Union theater. The only artist scheduled for concert performance this summer, Peerce is a young singer who has risen to overnight fame. His Town hall concert in New York last November, was a spectacular success, with critics the next day proclaiming him the 'artistic triumph of the season.'

Tickets for the concert are available at the box office of the Wisconsin Union theater.

He is a great director, one of the best in the business. He specializes in American comedies and how he ever manages to interpret the American scene is something that leaves Americans marveling. He plays out the parts of all the performers. He does all the love scenes first, himself, taking both the male and female roles. Then he tells his actors to say their lines as he has said them.

This walsky makes the bystanders guffaw. If any actor spoke like Director Ratoff speaks, they both would be fired. But somehow he manages to put across his idea and the actors speak like Ratoff would have spoken had he been able.

And if that sounds complicated, you ought to watch him directing.

AGE 19, AN ACTOR 16 YEARS George Ernst, of the 'Jones Family' fame, started in pictures in 1924, when he was three years old.

500 to Open U. W. Music Clinic Monday

More than 500 high school student musicians and directors of music from all parts of Wisconsin and 24 other states will attend the 11th annual music clinic at the University of Wisconsin from Monday to July 27.

Sponsored annually by the school of music, the clinic gives music directors and student musicians of high schools an opportunity for three weeks of intensive study under some of the nation's foremost teachers.

Last year about 500 directors and students attended the clinic, and attendance this summer is expected to be as large, according to Prof. Leon L. Itis, of the school of music faculty, who is director of the clinic.

High school student musicians who enroll in the clinic are eligible to become members of the All-State band, orchestra, or chorus, and participants in the work of these organizations, each of which gives several concerts during the period.

The All-State band, composed of more than 300 pieces, will again give a concert this year during the final program of the Milwaukee Mid-Summer festival in Milwaukee on July 20. Last summer the band played to an estimated audience of 150,000 persons at the festival's final program.

An outstanding faculty has again been secured for the 1940 clinic, which is not only the oldest music clinic of its kind in the United States, but is now the largest and most complete. Although its large enrollment annually represents more than 200 high schools scattered throughout Wisconsin, clinic officials are anxious to have every high school in the state represented.
