First Summer Park Concert Starts at 2:45 in Vilas Park

Madison summer park concert season opens this after-noon at 2:45 in Vilas park when the Madison Work Projects Administration orchestra under the direction of G. Lorenz White presents a program of light classical and modern music. Guest soloist on the season's initial concert will be Dorothy Heick, marimbist.

As in the past the city park board has provided extra bleachers for the open air concert. Thousands filled the park last year for the weekly programs. Four other concerts will be presented throughout the summer.

The orchestra has been augmented to 40 musicians with members of the American Federation of Musicians Local No. 166.

Conductor of the orchestra for the past year, White has come to Madison with a successful record in the field of civic music.

After attending Lawrence College and the University of Arkansas, he was graduated with a degree from the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, For 10 years he was clarinetist with noted symphony and philharmonic orchestras, and was director of music at Kemper Military academy, Booneville, Mo., and Shattuck Military school, Faribault, Minn.

4 4 Miss Heick is well known here as a marimba soloist winner of the Major Bowes contest a few years ago and has just returned from an extensive concert tour of the middlewest with several appearances in Chicago.

The marimba as an important orchestral instrument is rapidly gaining recognition

Radio Artists Display Work Here

Art work by Wisconsin children, ranging from 8 to 15, who are learning to draw by radio, now is on display in the Wisconsin Union gallery where it will remain until July 20. It includes work of intermediate and graded school pupils,

Of special interest to the conference of the National Association of Elementary Principals, meeting here this month, the exhibition-is prepared from thousands of drawings submitted by pupils throughout the state who are inspired by the "Let's Draw" program of station WHA's School of the Air.

Conducted by James A. Schwalbach, art instructor at Whitewater State Teacher's college, the "Let's Draw" program stimulates creative art expression by use of children's stories, colorful music, dramatic narratives, sound effects, and direct suggestions. Drawings completed after the broadcast are sent to Schwalbach for criticism and selection for outstanding merit. A national winner in educational radio programs contest; competing with network broadcasts, the WHA art series began with "Art Craft," conducted by Wayne Claxton of the university art school, from 1932 to 1936. Four years ago it was taken over by Schwalbach who has also prepared a comprehensive teacher's manual to aid the instructor in classroom use of the
