Lanny Ross To Sing Premiere Of Own Composition; Country Editor To Be Heard

Miss D'Arcy Grant, who gave up her city job to become master of a freighter; William Ballou, Negro cab driver, who captured two armed thugs after receiving a serious wound; Irving "Schnitz" Davidson, Mayor of Forty-Fourth Street in New York City; Captain Patrick Taylor, "Mark Twain of the Waterfront" and Phillip Barona, who is sponsoring a safety campaign for p.c.s. will be Gabriel Heatter's guests on "We, The People," Tuesday over WABC at 8 p. m.

Lanny Ross will sing the air premiere of his own composition, "On Guard, America," over a nationwide network, during Musical Americana, Tuesday, at 8 p. m. over WJZ.

"On Guard, America" is a poem which Lanny received from Polly Stone Buck, of Jacksonville, Vermont. It made so deep an impression that the tenor star wrote the music and arranged to have the song published.

Henry Beetle Hough, metropolitan newspaperman who became a country editor and is doing an outstanding job at it, will be heard as an Information Please guest expert over the WJZ at 7:30 p. m., instead of Bill Tilden, as first announced. The other members of the board will be John Kieran, F. P. Adams and Oscar Levant.

"Quiz Kids," juvenile program sensation which went on WEAF June 28, as a vacation substitute for "Alec Templeton Time," is to carry on in a new spot of its own. Beginning Sept. 4, the program will be heard over WJZ at 7 p. m.

MILLER CITY

MILLER CITY, Sept. 3—Three local couples are to be married in the near future here, according to banns published in the St. Nicholas Catholic church.

Miss Mary E. Steffan will become the bride of Clifford Geiseg of New Bavaria. Miss Susan Babek will be married to Paul Kaufman of Leipsic. The third ceremony will unite Miss Juanita Wagner of Leipsic and Raymond Bahrach of Miller City.

After their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Niese will reside here. They were married Wednesday in St. Anthony's Catholic church in Columbus Grove. The bride was Miss Mary Karhoff, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Karhoff of Columbus Grove while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Niese of near here.

Another marriage of interest here was that of Miss Gertrude Barlage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Barlage, to Vincent Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Peck of New Bavaria. The ceremony was performed in the St. Nicholas church here with Miss Agnes Barlage attending her sister and with Oscar Barlage acting as best man.

On Monday, Rev. Vincent Munch was visited by Mr. and Mrs. William Borgelt and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Borgelt and their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman and family were at home a few days ago to Mrs. William Ossage, of Peerysburg; Mrs. William Jones and daughter, Beverly, of Toledo.

IRON STATUE OF VULCAN STANDS AT NAZI SALUTE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 3—(UP)—The fact that Vulcan, giant iron statue atop Red Mountain that is the trademark of Birmingham, is posed in a Nazi salute, has been called to the attention of Public Safety Commissioner Eugene Connor.

Connor was nonplussed. No one had ever before noticed the similarity of Vulcan's outstretched hand, pointing to the city below him, to the German signal.

Then he thought of a way out. "That statue was a WPA project," he smiled. "Go see President Roosevelt about it."

Errol Flynn Is Starred In Current Ohio Attraction

Rialto Shows Film Stories Of Edgar Wallace Novels; Adventure Picture Is On Sigma Screen

"The Sea Hawk," starring Errol Flynn in the most glorious screen adventure of his career, is the current Ohio theatre attraction offering thrills, excitement for film fans. In the stellar supporting cast are Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Alan Hale and Flora Robson offering performances of historical characters of the day that saw the birth of British sea power.

Two novels by Edgar Wallace become screen entertainment of thrilling dimensions at the Rialto theatre with the showing this week of "The Return of the Frog" and "The Demon Barber of Fleet Street." The pictures offer a double portion of amusement for horror film fans.

At the Sigma theatre, "Flowing Gold," a saga of love and adventure in the Western oil fields, stars John Garfield, Pat O'Brien and Frances Farmer. Commencing Wednesday is "Stagecoach War" and "Queen of the Mob."

The starring trio—Don Ameche, Tyrone Power and Alice Faye—are offered in two pictures at the Lyric theatre, "In Old Chicago" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Both were hit shows of the past season with the trio hurdling to the top with their performances.

Trene Dunne and Cary Grant are starred in the State theatre comedy "My Favorite Wife" with Randolph Scott and Gail Patrick in supporting roles. The plot involves a husband's legally dead wife returned on the eve of his second honeymoon. Second feature at the State is "French Without Tears," starring Ray Milland and Ellen Drew.

Combining drama with hilarious comedy, "Girl From Avenue A," the attraction at the Quilna theatre, stars Jane Withers in the story of a bowery girl who wanted to act like a lady.

"Charlie Chan in Panama," the co-feature, stars Sidney Toler in a mystery of sabotage and espionage.

All the flaming adventure of the thrill-sweep Spanish Main lives again in "The Sea Hawk" starring Errol Flynn as the Robin Hood of the seas and now at the Ohio. Here is the reckless story of the most dangerous buccaney who ever plundered the high seas for the greater glory of his queen.

Thrills, excitement, spell-binding adventure, tender romance are blended in generous proportion to make "The Sea Hawk" the year's best bet in screen entertainment.

Errol Flynn has seldom had a role that shows to better advantage his magnificent talents and compelling screen personality. He is completely at home in his portrayal of Sir Geoffrey Thorpe, daring privateer who engages in piratical pursuits against Britain's enemies. In this, he has the unqualified approval of Queen Elizabeth, Flora Robson portrays the good Queen Bess in film, and seldom has the redoubtable monarch received better treatment in the hands of an actress.

Seldom has such a sterling cast of players been assembled for one picture, and each plays his role with the consummate skill of a seasoned performer. Following the brilliant lead of Flynn, Miss Marshall, Miss Robson and Claude Rains, as such players as Alan Hale, Donald Crisp, Henry Daniell, Montague Love, Gilbert Roland, James Stephenson, Robert Warwick, J. M. Kerrigan and literally hundreds of others.

A thrilling race between two stagecoaches, to determine whether the famous Morgan breed of horses or the wild Western mustang is better suited to haul stages over the dangerous mountain passes of the West, provides the exciting climax for Clarence E. Mulford's "Stagecoach War," the best of the "Hopalong" Cassidy action romances, which opens

Wednesday at the Sigma theatre. It would seem that the horses themselves could provide the answer, but the situation is complicated by the fact that the daughter of the head of the mustang faction is in love with the advocate of the Morgan breed, and she takes an active part in deciding how the race should come out.

What brings "Hopalong" Cassidy and his pal "Lucky" Jenkins to the scene is the fact that there's a band of highwaymen who don't care who wins so long as there are stagecoaches to be held up. "Hoppy" takes care of them in his characteristic manner and even succeeds in ironing out the lanky trail True Love is forced to take this romance.

The role of "Hopalong" is again essayed by William Boyd, while Russell Hayden plays the role of "Lucky." Others in the big cast are Bill Wood, Harvey Stephens, J. Paul MacDonall, Julie Carter, Bud Robinson, Frank Lawton, and over 50 riders. The King's Men, important adjunct of the popular Fibber McGee and Molly radio program, are on hand to provide several Western vocal selections.

The most hair-raising, blood-curdling, thrill-horror show ever presented is now at the Rialto theatre. And it is not only one single chilling feature, but it is what Select Attractions chooses to call a pair of twin-thrillers or a double horror-show. These two full-length excitement-creating productions are titled "The Return of the Frog" and "The Demon Barber of Fleet Street."

"The Return of the Frog" is the screen version of one of Edgar Wallace's most mystifying novels, "The India Rubber Man," and it brings to it a screen, in the role of Scotland Yard Inspector Elk, one of filmland's most famed sleuth-characterizations, Gordon Harker. Seen in Mr. Harker's supporting cast are such favorites as Una O'Connor, whose portrayal of the police-defying Mum Oaks is said to be one of her best roles, the pretty and pert Rene Ray, who is seen as Mum's impudent niece, and Hartley Power, who injects a gangster-like quality into his part of Sandford, an American detective bent on learning some of Scotland Yard's most treasured secrets in crime-detection.

In "The Demon Barber of Fleet Street," the title role falls into the hands of Tod Slaughter, whose name is aptly chosen, for he is one of the most diabolical of all screen murder-maniacs. Mr. Slaughter has gained fame far and wide for his horror-and-scare acting, and, if ever there was a boogey-man in the flesh, it's Tod Slaughter. Eve Lister, a very pretty brunette actress, is the outstanding member of Slaughter's supporting cast, and it is upon Eve that the evil barber casts his compelling eye—and, it is upon her female beauty that he forces his unwanted attentions. Of course, Slaughter is generally too busy with his odd jobs of murdering to pay much attention to even such a lovely creature as Eve Lister.

CHARLIE CHAN faces the most daring and baffling plot in his career in "Charlie Chan in Panama," the latest of the thrillers, now at the Quilna.

It is Chan's job to track down the fiendish criminal who has laid diabolical plans to destroy the Panama Canal and trap the fleet in the wrecked locks.

Jean Rogers, Lionel Atwill and Mary Nash head the imposing supporting cast, under the direction of Norman Foster.

With Jane Withers as a bowery splittie on her own in ritz Park Avenue, "Girl From Avenue A," Jane's latest starring film, is also now at the Quilna theatre.

It's her biggest and best picture to date and it brings out all you love best in Jane. Hilarity keynotes the splendid film, altho it has its moments of stirring drama. Jane tops all her previous performances in a grand role that was hand tailored just for her.

Robert Verrier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Verrier, north of town was removed to White Cross Hospital, Columbus, Tuesday for observation.
