Janet Fox Gets First Lead In "Manhattan At Midnight"

President Roosevelt To Be Heard During Address Before Teamsters' Union In Washington

Janet Fox, popular character actress, will play her first romantic lead in "Manhattan At Midnight," on Wednesday, at 7:30 p. m. over WJZ. She will be supported by a pair of microphone veterans, Ed Jerome and Bill Johnstone.

Miss Fox, who is the niece of Edna Ferber, will play the role of "Gail Martin" in Theodore and Mathilde Ferro's story of marriage doomed to destruction by a young couple who have allowed careers to come first in their interests. When a young magazine editor and his costume designer wife decide to keep working after their marriage in order to save for the future, they do not suspect that it will jeopardize having a future together at all. A trip to Reno points the way to an unexpected happiness in a surprise climax President Roosevelt will be heard over WJZ on Wednesday, Sept. 11, from 9 to 10 p. m., when he addresses a meeting of the International Federation of Teamsters and Chauffeurs in Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C.

The President will be introduced by Daniel J. Tobin, head of the union, which is one of the central By units of the American Federation of Labor. A boy orator, and a girl who is a whiz at most anything from musie to Latin and science, will be the two new Quiz Kids when the program of that name goes on the air Wednesday at 8 p. m. over WJZ.

They are Jack Ducal, 13, a freshman in Fenwick High school in Chicago, and Geraldine Ham-burg, 14, a junior in the Evanston Township high school.

On the Juiz Kids panel with Jack and Geraldine will be Cynthia! Cline, 14, of Chicago, making her 10th consecutive appearance on the program; Edith Lee James, 13, of Oak Park, and Jack Beckman 13, of Chicago, winners in the Sopt, 4 quesiton-and-answer ses-

Joe Kelly will be the master of ceremonies, and Curtis Mitchell, editor of Movie and Radio Guide, the guest observer.

Frances Langford will introduce "You're Nearer" from her latest picture, "Too Many Girls," on the tember In The Rain" and "Cyner's "Manhattan Fairy Tale Suite.", offered as the lone candidate.

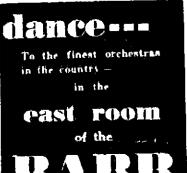

Special emphasis will be placed. The formal election will be held on the "Mr. District Attorney" at next Tuesday's meeting. program over WEAF Wednesday | Six other officers were nominatnomilar radio series

Miss Norma C. Brown, of the National Forum, Chicago, was the guest speaker at the meeting, on the subject "Can American Democracy Survive?"

Miss Brown said there are many problems today that America must solve. She said we will not stop war by denouncing it, we must do something about the cause. Among facts and figures which she cited, the speaker said all wars from tion. 1793 to 1910 cost 25 billion dollars. The World war alone, she recalled, cost 186 billion dollars.

Miss Brown said the cost of the World war to the United States equaled the cost of all churches, plus the cost of all education, surfaced roads and medical care for five years, in addition to all fire losses for 20 years.

Among other problems America must face, she said, are economic formal education.
